PG&E May Build New N. County Power Plant

By FRANK LaPIERRE

When talks started some two years ago about building a multi-million dollar wastewater reclamation facility in Daly City, the biggest concern voiced centered around who would use the water?

Now, with plans already being drawn and the project moving ahead on schedule, concern has switched to whether the plant will be able to supply enough reclaimed wastewater to fulfill demands.

Requests for the water have been pouring in from a variety of agencies, including PG&E.

The North San Mateo County Sanitation District has received "feelers" from PG&E to supply 2½ million gallons of wastewater daily as a coolant for its proposed power plant to be built "somewhere in the North Peninsula sector," a PG&E spokesman told The Post.

The giant utility company would begin using the water sometime in 1978, with the daily gallonage increased to five million gallons a day by 1982.

The NSMCSD facility has won state approval and funding for some 6½ million gallons of reclaimed wastewater.

However, expansion to meet demands would not present much difficulty, according to Sanitation Engineer Robert Bernicchi, of Resources Engineering, consultants to the NSMCSD.

"It would cost more money, of course," Bernicchi said.

He expected the additional funds would have to come from developers who would be charged a "connection tax" for the service.

Al Vial, PG&E district manager, acknowledged the company is looking at three sites for the proposed plant — Oyster Point in South San Francisco, Southern Pacific owned property in Brisbane, and some property in the North County, owned by the California Water District.

A decision on the multi-million dollar plant is expected to come in early January, 1975.

Bernicchi thinks PG&E's use of the water would be "ideal."

For one thing, the water demand would be constant throughout the year, while other users (such as golf courses and cemeteries) would fluctuate their demands depending on the weather — more in summer, less in winter.

And for another, as coolant for the PG&E plant, some two-thirds of the water would evaporate with the remainder returned to the wastewater reclamation plan$1t for recycling. There would be no bay outflow.

Bernicchi expects the Daly City Sanitation facility to be in operation by September 1977.

The NSMCSD facility is also under the gun to upgrade its water treatment, in addition to the reclamation plant.

This calls for construction of a new ocean outfall line.

Studies have determined the cheapest and most feasible route for the outfall pipe would be through the Olym-

A Series on Our Economy

"It's just frustrating to keep this family in clothes," laments a North County mother of six teenagers.

". . . What we have discovered throughout this year is that there has only been slight trend changes . . ." said a merchant who has stores in the North County.

Those are quotes from two related stories appearing today as the start of a series of staff-produced articles on the economy and its impact on Northern wsan Mateo County merchants and consumers.

Reporter Rick Sullivan's special review of what's happening in the clothing field, its future and the impact on the consumer are elsewhere on this page.

Other such reports will follow. For example, what folks are doing with their leisure time is the topic for an article in which reporter Bob Peterson outlines changes forced by the economy.

One recreation vehicle executive told Peterson that buyers "don't jump in right off the bat — but people are still buying."

And bowling, winter sports and the opera are thriving, Peterson learned.

Reporter Jack Bik has been probing inflation's impact on the food industry — and what it means to the consumer.

"We eat a lot of hot dogs and hash these days," a mother of seven told Reporter Bik.

Staff writer Frank LaPierre has examined the economics of transportation.

Accompanying each "target" story will be a special "profile," a report on how some North County individuals are coping with today's economy.

Explosion Destroys Daly City Home; Gas Leak

A leaking gas line is suspected of causing an explosion early Wednesday that completely demolished a Daly City home, shattering windows in at least eight homes on Skyline Drive.

Miraculously, no one was seriously injured in the explosion.

The blast rocked the neighborhood shortly after 4:30 a.m., rousing hundreds of residents from bed.

Battalion Chief Lyle Church said the owner of the home, Delmar Jones and fireman George Eberly, received minor injuries in the explosion.

According to Jones, a disabled Vietnam War veteran, a "roaring sound" coming from the garage area awoke him, his wife and two daughters shortly before the blast.

Jones went to the garage and started moving his car outside when the "roar" turned to a "hissing sound." He immediately shut off his car and called his wife.

Mrs. Jones, with daughters Theresa, 13, and Beverly, 11, had left the home through the front door when the smell of gas permeated the house.

Jones left the home via the garage door and was standing at the corner of the home when the explosion occurred.

Knocked to his knees, Jones was able to evacuate the area under his own power, Church said.

While Jones was in the garage searching for the leak, one of his daughters pulled a street fire alarm.

Siremen had reached the corner of Skyline and Westmoor Avenue — about 100 feet from the home — when "the explosion hit the house like a thunderball," Church said.

"If we had been a few feet closer, we would have been in bad shape," Church said.

So great was the force of the explosion that an entire wall was ripped from its foundation and hurled against a nearby home (the roof was lifted from the structure and set back down at an angle); a heavy garage door was torn from the front of the house, sent high into the air and crashed back down on the family's late model car; and windows were blown from their frames in surrounding homes.

"It was a real mess. There was no fire on arrival of our trucks," Church said. "What little fire there might have been was snuffed out by the explosion."

Loss was estimated at $50,000 plus for the home and contents.

A similar blast on Southgate Avenue in Daly City earlier this year, heavily damaged a Southgate Avenue home.

A Compulsion to 'Stay in Fashion'

By RICK SULLIVAN

It seems that no matter how fast the price of clothing escalates, the compulsion to "stay in fashion" continues to bite deep into the family budget.

Despite a recent government report that sharp increases in the price of clothing in August led the biggest inflationary surge in the past 12 months, North San Mateo County residents were still buying for fashion.

According to a recent survey of local merchants, North County residents are not only spending more money on clothing, but are buying more garments than a year ago, a phenomenon that admittedly surprises clothing store owners.

The government report stated consumer prices soared 1.3 per cent in August (the latest government figures available) due to sharp increases in clothing, meats, mortgage interest rates and medical services.

The government said the big increase in non-food items was due mostly to higher clothing prices, which usually decline in August.

The report went on to state that the leap in retail prices which works out to an adjusted annual rate of 15.6 per cent, was overshadowed by near record wholesale prices over the past two months and virtually assures continued high inflation through 1974.

Local clothing store owners corroborate the government prognostication; in fact, most merchants warn that local residents can continue to look forward to additional price increases, mostly in the cotton and wools, through the end of the year.

Bill Isaacson, owner of Ross Mens and Womens Clothing stores in San Bruno believes the wholesale price of clothing will continue to rise dramatically through the end of 1974 (in turn pushing up the retail price), but not as drastically as the rise witnessed at the beginning of this year.

Isaacson warns shoppers that the price of cotton and wool clothing will continue to rise "out of sight," due, he said, to the recent scarcity of the products.

A cotton shirt last year selling for $6, now sells for $9, a 33 per cent increase, he said.

Sol Salk, vice-president of Grodins which operates 18 clothing stores in the Bay Area, including one at Serramonte Shopping Center and one at Stonestown, agrees the price of cotton and wool clothing will escalate again soon, but not to the degree as prophesied by Isaacson.

"The wool market last year and this past spring was very, very high, but I understand that wool and cotton are becoming more available and I look forward to some stability in costs for the products this fall," said Salk.

"However, prices for cotton and wool products are not likely to go down; in fact, they will continue to go up because of increasing labor costs," he added.

Although Isaacson and Salk may disagree slightly on the future on the price of cotton and wool clothing, both prophetically maintain that consumers will not have to face big price increases in the synthetics.

Both merchants agree that the price of clothing made of

How Mother of Six Copes With Inflation

Local clothing store owners may be reporting increases this year in both dollar and unit sales, but their customers aren't coming from large families, if the Miller bunch of Pacifica is any example.

"We just haven't got the money to put clothing a high family budget priority," says Judy Miller, a substitute teacher, part-time secretary and mother of six teenagers.

"It's just frustrating to keep this family in clothes," she laments.

Although Mrs. Miller says her husband holds a "good job" as an analyst with Southern Pacific and she works two jobs, money to buy clothing is rarely there.

In fact, she says her clothing store visits are usually limited to twice a year, at Christmas and during the June sales. She did say she sometimes buys her children clothes for their birthdays.

"Inflation is especially hurting our family, which is a combination of two families. Before we were married my husband had five boys and I had one girl.

"When I went to work as a substitute teacher and a part-time secretary at the beginning of the year, I thought we would be able to make out all right.

PACIFICAN
Mrs. Judy Miller

"Well, even with my extra $300 a month and my husband's $100 a month raise, we hardly noticed a change (in purchasing power)."

Mrs. Miller says she never pays the regular price for clothes, always shopping for sales, and that her purchases are invariably confined to wash and wear synthetics and blends. "I never see wools or all-cottons on sale. They're usually very expensive.

"I admit that clothing should be a higher budget priority for us, but it's being put on the back burner. We're just getting by with clothes from Christmas and hand-me-downs. We're not very well dressed, I guess you can say.

"You know, both my husband and I are college graduates, and you would think that our incomes would be sufficient for our family. Well, it just doesn't work out that way."

Battle Not Over for Broadmoor Deputy

By DUANE SANDUL

Sheriff's deputy Jack Gerhardt, injured in the 1972 helicopter shooting, won his first "battle" Wednesday. A jury awarded him $202,650 in general damages.

But the battles aren't over for the 41-year-old deputy, who has been on disability leave since the Nov. 24, 1972 shooting.

He is striving to regain his physical strength to rejoin the sheriff's department. But even he says he may not win that battle.

The bullet which pierced the sheriff's helicopter roared through Gerhardt's scrotum, left leg, left arm and his left wrist. It's the arm and wrist which doctors say leave Gerhardt disabled by about 23 per cent.

To rejoin the sheriff's department, Gerhardt must pass a physical and be able to perform the agility tests. Today, he says he could not do it. He has until Nov. 24 of this year for a doctor to certify him for return to the department.

If Gerhardt, the father of four, cannot return, he will find work elsewhere, both he and his attorney Joseph W. Cotchett maintain.

The finding of Eddie's Sports Shop in Mountain View as one of the two defendants liable meant the first time a gun shop has been held responsible for the sale of its ammunition in California since the federal restrictions on sales, according to various court sources.

Also held liable was Dana Olsen, the then 17-year-old high school student, who was accused of negligently shooting at a bird near Portola Valley while allegedly knowing the helicopter was above.

Olsen's attorney, Bruce Wagner of Redwood City, said he concurred with the Jury's finding the store liable, but said he felt young Olsen "also was a victim of the store's action. They should have warned him about the velocity of the ammunition."

The ammunition was 7.7-millimeter bullets for a Japanese military rifle.

The six-man, six-woman jury found in favor of the third defendant, William Rassiuer, then 18, thus finding he was not liable. He had been charged with assisting Olsen in the purchase of the ammunition.

"It's evident that Rassiuer did not purchase the ammunition, because all negotiations for it were between Olsen and a clerk," said Bernard Allard of San Jose, attorney for Rassieur. "That precluded esponsibility on his behalf."

"It's a good, fair and reasonable sum," said attorney Cotchett, who had sought general damages of $350,000.

Cotchett said the verdict could set state precedent to the point that "when gun and ammunition is sold to criminals, the store may be held liable," depending on the circumstances of the transaction.

Nelson Barry, attorney for the sports shop and its owner, Gerald David, said he would introduce motions soon asking for a new trial.

Morgan's Hard Line on Truancy

Jefferson Union High School students who habitually cut classes or are repeatedly tardy or who are found possessing illegal weapons on campus would have to appear before the Board of Trustees or face the threat of expulsion, according to a proposal by Superintendent Edward Morgan.

Besides that proposal, Morgan also is recommending stiffening the language in regards to illegal weapons and the consideration of two changes at Serramonte High School. They are the addition of bus aides to supervise the conduct of the student passengers, and the conversion of the school's modular schedule to a more traditional type.

The superintendent presented the proposals to the board at its Oct. 15 meeting, and a special meeting was tentatively scheduled for last night to consider adoption and to further discuss the matter.

Morgan's action stemmed from some disturbances at Serramonte High School about two weeks ago in which fights broke out. Although emphasizing that the events did not resemble any kind of riot situation, Morgan said that they led to a condition "that made education at the campus difficult for several days."

He told the trustees that the proposals should be approved to ensure "parents who send their children to our schools. . . that those who want to be educated will be given that opportunity free from fear."

In speaking of the student who habitually cuts class or is tardy, Morgan said, "It's about time we brought that kid in with the youngsters' parents and have the board find out what is behind it and what is the cause."

Morgan pinted out, though, that a student wouldn't come to the board until all the other avenues to finding out the problem were exhausted. These avenues include interviews with school counselors, psychologists or other staff, and a referral of the matter to county authorities.

Trustee Edward Solomon agreed with Morgan, saying that the board "should make it known that parents didn't

Clothing Trends

synthetic fabrics will go up slightly by the end of the year as wholesale prices and labor costs escalate, but will not match the anticipated increase in the prices of cottons and wools.

As the cost of clothing materials began a sweeping upward climb last year and as workers clamored for higher wages, local clothing store owners admit they were fearful that 1974 would show a marked slowdown in fashion buying. Most said they believed trends would change from spending for fashion to spending for functional purposes, and the owners exercised caution in buying merchandise.

Their concern, however, proved to be without merit.

Most local clothing merchants have found that residents are spending more money on more clothes than they did last year, and they are still buying for fashion.

Inflation, it appears, is not hurting the local clothing store merchant.

"At the beginning of this year we were looking for a dramatic change in spending trends on the part of the consumer, and we were a little cautious in our own buying," said Mervyn's department store founder and chairman of the board Mervin Morris.

"However what we have discovered throughout this year is that there has only been slight trend changes. Customers are now expressing favor for private labels and our own brand labels, because they are cheaper, but, in fact, people are spending more money and buying more clothes," Morris said.

Salk explained that at Grodins' Stonestown store dollar and unit volume remains at the same level as last year, but that the chain showed a "dramatic" increase in unit sales, and thus dollar volume. Salk said he could not compare figures at the Serramonte store since it is less than a year old.

The surprising clothing store dollar and unit volume increase, according to Salk, seems only to be centered in Northern California. He said clothing sales, especially mens clothing, in Northern California is the strongest in the country.

"New York has registered a volume slowdown for the past three or four months, and Los Angeles also is very slow," said Salk. "But Northern California, (clothing sales) for some reason, seems to be still growing."

Ross clothing store owner Isaacson further illustrates Salk's contention, noting that his two San Bruno stores, have shown a 10 per cent increase in sales over last year.

Although increasing its dollar volume over last year, Penney's store at the Tanforan Park Shopping Center, so far this year has shown little increase in unit volume.

"At our Tanforan store, it appears so far, that people are not buying the basics, such as robes and shirts, as readily as they used to," said Penney's spokesperson Lynn Akin.

Miss Akin said both men and women are still buying for fashion, but instead of buying whole new wardrobes, as they did several years ago, most customers are buying additions to existing wardrobes.

The Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce celebrated opening of its new offices at 6767 Mission St. Thursday, attended by city officials and business leaders. Refreshments were served. Sims Appointed Assistant Chief

Daly City police captain Richard C. Sims, a 19-year veteran of the Daly City police department, was appointed assistant police chief during ceremonies held last week at City Hall.

Sims, married and the father of six daughters, has been a resident of Daly City since 1943.

With his wife, Audrey, at his side, Sims was sworn in as assistant to police chief David L. Hansen by city clerk Anna Ohlendorf.

Sims is a graduate of the FBI National Academy and has completed numerous courses in law enforcement techniques.

He has been the recipient of several awards for his police work.

A former U. S. Marine, Sims joined the police department in 1956 as a dispatcher, later becoming a patrolman that year. He was appointed a sergeant in 1961, lieutenant in 1962 and captain in 1966.

Hansen was appointed by City Manager David Rowe to the chief's post on the sudden death of Roland "Lo" Petrocchi on April 14, 1974.

Sims replaces retired assistant chief Roy Beecher.

have to be afraid to have their kids attend school."

And Jane Powell also seemed supportive, saying that the "habitual cutter" is disruptive because the teacher has to explain to them what they have already covered in previous classes.

Trustee Ruth Boudinot, however, reminded the board that there were other agencies to handle truancy cases, and said "that we shouldn't kid ourselves that we'll be able to mandate them to go to school."

Besides having the offending student face the trustees, Morgan also wanted a couple word changes that would say that those who are habitually tardy or cut class or possess illegal weapons "shall" be suspended.

Since part of the problem that caused the troubles at Serramonte occurred as a result of incidents on the school bus, Morgan suggested the possibility of bus aides.

Morgan said the administration is working on the assigning of additional buses to the school, since the ones operating now are over crowded. Serramonte Principal Wayne Kurlak said because of the crowd, there is some pushing and shoving sometimes that leads to students having bad attitudes by the time they reach school.

As for the changing from a modular schedule at Serramonte, it was indicated that even if desired, the rescheduling might not be able to take place until next Fall.

The shift to a more traditional schedule was one of the recommendations made on the Serramonte needs assessment study. A committee is currently working on the proposal.

pic golf course, west of the plant.

Olympic Club General Manager Tom Marquoit, said there have been "scattered talks" between the club and sanitation district, but nothing firm has come of these discussions.

"I don't know enough about it at this time," Marquoit said.

If the pipeline can be routed through the Olympic Club it could be mutually beneficial, experts say.

A savings of some $80,000 in construction of the line would result; and perhaps the Olympic Golf Club would become a potential customer, using some 1.8 million gallons of reclaimed wastewater daily.

Regardless, the NSMCSD must build a new outfall line, and if the Olympic Club route fails, engineers will consider routing the pipe past the golf club to Fort Funston where they will cut across to the ocean.

Youth Arrested in Pacifica

A 17-year old Pacifica youth was arrested on an assault charge Saturday night as police tried to quell a near-riot at the rest stop at San Pedro Beach.

Officers tried to break up the gathering, as more than a hundred youths milled about the area, throwing rocks.

The arrest took place after the 17-year old youth kicked Officer Gary Roberts. The youth later fled but was apprehended later and taken to the police station, where he was booked. The youth eventually was released to his parents, according to Officer Walter Majka, Jr.

The trouble started, Majka said, when complaints poured into the station of a large gathering of youths where a rock band was playing at a home on Mason Drive, Near Terra Nova High School.

Officer Roberts ordered the gathering broken up. Instead, it apparently moved to the beach, and Roberts called for help.

Bayshore District Asks Revenue Limit Increase

A declining student population, coupled with taxing limits of Senate SB 90, has forced the Bayshore School District to ask the people to pass a revenue limit increase that could cost an average homeowner between $35-$42 a year.

Superintendent Guido Colla said he is being forced to ask for the increase, some $300 per student in the small district, in the light of the declining student population — down about 25 students in the past two years to a total of 446.

The present tax rate in the district is $1.92.

Homes in the district are valued on the average at $24,000.

Asked what happens to the district if the issue fails at the polls on Nov. 5, Colla replied:

"We have no choice but to try again in March. We have already cut back services in the district, and I think parents are aware of what is happening here."

Colla said if the increase is passed the school board cannot spend the full $300 per student amount.

They must appropriate only what is needed to educate a student — likely less than the $300 — Colla said.

Meanwhile, the district has scheduled a public meeting for Oct. 30, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the district's Bayshore School's multi-purpose room to discuss the issue.

Health Clinic Probe, Yellow Cab Fares

DC Postpones Action on Requests, Appeals

The Daly City council went through its lengthy agenda last Tuesday, following the Columbus Day weekend recess, in rapid order.

Several items were continued, including a request from Marlene Espinosa, spokesperson for the Ad Hoc Committee of Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Clinic, requesting the council to delay investigation of the clinic.

The Ad Hoc Committee has charged that the clinic practices racial discrimination in hiring and makeup of the board of directors, among other things.

It was agreed to table the issue until Oct. 21.

A subdivision ordinance, already continued from Sept. 23, was shelved until the city staff completed outlining the proposed law.

An appeal filed by Ronald E. Witman for construction of fire walls for a child care center at 221 South Parkview, was continued by mutual agreement.

Witman claims he was advised by staff that special fire walls would not be required.

He later learned of the requirement and now will discuss implementation of the ordinance with fire and building inspectors before bringing the issue back before the council, he said.

The council gave praise and money to the Camelot Tot-lot project in the Serramonte area.

Praise was directed at assistant planner Don Ciucci and Charles Vincent, along with $21,000 to fund the Tot-lot.

Also continued was a public hearing on a requested Yellow Cab Company fare increase in Daly City, pending return of City Manager David Rowe from a national meeting of city managers now under way in Houston, Texas.

The council was informed that Rowe had additional information to add to that presented at the council meeting.

Yellow Cab Company is asking for its second rate increase in 18 months — from a present 65 cents for the first one-eighth of a mile to 80 cents for the same distance and an increase in fractions of traveling distances (some three cents per mile more).

The out-of-town rates — 150 per cent of the meter — for travel distances over 15 miles, remain the same.

Reasons cited by Charles L. O'Connor, senior vice president of Yellow Cab, were increases in gasoline costs (up 65 per cent since March 1973); increases in insurance rates for the cabs; operating losses in an eight-month period ending Aug. 31, 1974, of some $10,050 (before income taxes).

Drivers are paid 50 per cent of the meter rate.

If Daly City charges passengers a lower rate, drivers make less than their counterparts in other Bay Area cities.

O'Connor said 13 cities are already charging the higher rates.

The increase would not hurt the "average" resident, according to O'Connor.

Dave Powell, business agent for the Garage and Service Station Employees Union Local No. 665, of which Yellow Cab is a member, pointed out "most people do not take a cab to and from work — people who use cabs have a certain amount of affluence."

Did Yellow's business suffer as a esult of the last fare increase, Councilman Victor Kyriakis asked?

O'Connor said it did drop about five per cent, "but only for about three or four months."

Councilman William Schumacher asked when the company expected to replace some of its "vintage vehicles" stationed in Daly City.

O'Connor answered that perhaps one-third of Yellow's fleet would be replaced next year.

The council agreed to postpone the hearing until Oct. 29.

Moratorium Asked on Sabbatical Leave

The Jefferson Union High School Board will consider an administration recommendation Nov. 6 to place a one year moratorium on sabbatical leave for the district's teachers for the 1975-76 year.

The plan, introduced to the board at its Oct. 15 meeting, has already been rejected unanimously by the Certificated Employees Council.

Superintendent Edward Morgan proposed the moratorium because of the district's "serious financial situation," saying that the 11 sabbaticals granted this year cost about $40,000.

According to the administration figures, those 11 teachers will be paid a total of $77,911. Teachers on sabbatical receive one half of their regular salary for a school year, which would have been $155,819 in this case. However, the district will pay the teachers' replacements only $108,594 since they are on a lower pay scale, resulting in a savings of $47,225.

Thus the district will spend nearly $31,000 for salaries on the sabbatical program. That, plus fringe benefits, adds up to Morgan's $40,000 estimate.

When the trustees take up the matter, it is expected two issues will be discussed. One is simply whether the moratorium should be enacted, and the second is whether the sabbatical leaves are good policy.

At least three board members indicated some support for the administration recommendation. Albert Teglia said he never has cared for sabbatical leaves. Jane Powell, in reference to the district's money problems, said, "Before I ever cut programs for the kids, I'd cut programs for the adults."

Mrs. Powell also questioned the importance of the leaves, saying that she has been reading reports of the teachers' experiences on sabbaticals and that "they read like travellogues."

And Edward Solomon added that the reports all sound the same.

Ruth Boudinot, however, questioned whether halting the sabbatical leave for financial reasons was "Piecemeal Budgeting."

When contacted to explain CEC's rejection of the moratorium, the group chairwoman Mary Ann Holden said the sabbatical leave is one of the benefits to the teachers, and that it was important to them.

As for the money concern, Mrs. Holden said "it's terribly early in the year to be thinking of financial cuts, since it was too early to tell what will happen in the state legislature."

New Hearings Set on Alleged SP Perjury

Subpoenas to new hearings into the proposed Southern Pacific Transportation Co. request for a 111 per cent commute fare increase and possible charges of perjury from the first hearing were sent Friday by the Assembly Subcommittee on San Francisco Rail Commuter Service.

Chairman Louis J. Papan, D-Daly City, announced he had called the hearing for 10 a.m. Oct. 31 at the State Office Building, 355 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco.

A spokesman said subpoenas are to go to those who testified at September hearings at Burlingame, City Hall, SP Vice President William Jaekle and John Lundeen, assistant director of the State Bureau of Transportation; also to R. L. Banks of Washington, D.C. and for his uncompleted commuter study for SP; SP General Solicitor Charles Burkett; and State Transportation Research Director John Williams.

How sensitive the matter is may be indicated by SP's reaction to the subpoenas when the railroad found out about them being prepared. The spokesman said SP told Papan Wednesday they wouldn't honor their subpoena and wouldn't encourage Banks, who is under no obligation to come, to honor his. Papan said the subpoenas would be issued anyway.

The Banks study is only "working papers" and as such are privileged, SP told Papa , according to the spokesman.

The threatened perjury probe is the result of SP statements at the Burlingame hearing that the line had no information about the effects of a 111 per cent fare increase on commuter traffic and that the additional revenue was needed to offset operating losses.

But it was revealed later that the Banks study preliminary findings had shown that any fare hikes over 60 per cent would result in substantial loss of commuter patronage and that SP had that information.

An SP spokesman said the railroad had planned to use the 111 per cent figure before the Public Utilities Commission.

More Fire Calls, Less DC Fires

There were more fire calls in Daly City during the past 12 months, but considerably less fires, according to a report submitted last week by Fire Chief Keith Schrock.

Schrock said his department responded to 3,154 fire calls in the fiscal year which ended on June 30. This is an increase of 52 calls over the previous year.

However, there were 107 less actual fires battled by the department, the report noted.

False alarms — up by 82 over the previous year — accounted for the jump in alarm responses, Schrock explained.

One death and 36 injuries occurred in Daly City during this period. There was a noticeable decrease in fire losses — down $23,941 from $532,928 in 1973.

In August, 1973, Schrock opened the new Serramonte area fire station headquarters at 444 Gellert Blvd.

The new structure brings to seven the number of fire stations in the city.

Hidden Pitfalls in Transit District "A"

All the wording of this legislation points to a hidden plan to bring BART into San Mateo County with the lowest possible vote. The county supervisors, county engineer and pro-BART committee, favor this move. Otherwise . . .

WHY do they ask for an additional ½ cent sales tax now when money is already available for buses?

WHY do they provide for a minimum majority vote for joining BART and for the property taxes therefor?

WHY do they ask for increasing three-fold, the legal bonding capacity of San Mateo County, from 5% to 15% or $355 million?

WHY do they ask for an appointed board when even BART has changed from an appointed to an elected board?

This is clearly laying the foundation for an election among the voters to saddle San Mate County with a billion dollars of new debt, when Southern Pacific can be upgraded at a fraction of the cost. Under provisions of California government code No. 26002 Supervisors can provide a transit control agency with a bus system without added taxes for several years.

—Virginia Baked Ham—

Use a regular smoked whole ham, shank half or butt half of ham. Place ham in a shallow roasting pan fat side up. Bake whole hams in a 300 degree oven 15 minutes per pound. Bake shank half or butt half in a 300 degree oven 20 minutes per pound or until thermometer reaches 160 degrees.
While ham is baking, make a mixture of the juice of two oranges, ½ cup pineapple juice, ½ cup each of sugar and honey or dark Karo syrup. Baste ham frequently. If you desire, a ½ hour before ham is cooked, remove ham, peel off rind, if any, score ham and place in ham a few whole cloves, and sliced pineapple to oven and continue basting until done.

Allow ¾-lb. ham per serving.

Transit District Formation Up to the Voters

By BOB HEMINGWAY

"This is not BART."

That is the main emphasis of the campaign being waged by the Citizens Committee for Transit District in promoting passage of Proposition A, the proposal to create a San Mateo County Transit District, in the Nov. 5 general election.

A majority vote of the county's electorate will decide whether or not a transit district upon approval of the electorate eminates from the failure of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA) to develop a mass transit plan acceptable to the county's residents.

Formed by the State Legislature in 1964, the WBRTA undertook a five-year study, and came up with a plan for a county-wide bus service as the answer to the county's mass transit needs. It failed to convince the county's voters, who turned down the proposal in 1969. The district was dissolved.

Then came the local San Mateo County Transit Development Project which, since 1969, has developed plans for a county-wide local bus system, extension of a BART-type mass transit rail system from Daly City to San Francisco International Airport and for extension of such a system to the south county line.

In addition, the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) is engaged in an independent study of the feasibility of upgrading the Southern Pacific commute service as a possible alternative to extension of BART-type service through the county.

It would be up to a transit district to attempt to develop from the studies a coordinated general plan for some alternative method, or methods, of transportation (in addition to the automobile) in San Mateo County.

Proponents of the transit measure contend it provides the county with an agency equipped to deal with the difficult financing, management and labor relations problems inherent to planning, developing and implementing a modern transit system.

Naturally, there is, if not outright opposition to the transit district proposal, some serious questioning of some of the provisions of the transit legislation.

Leading the questioning is the Town Hall Association, which has expressed concerns about the 60 per cent bond vote, the one-half of one per cent sales tax the district would be empowered to levy, the labor provisions and, of course, the issue of BART.

If approved, the transit district would be governed by a board of directors consisting of nine members.

Three members would be appointed by the county board of supervisors and would consist of two members of the board and a third member with "expertise in the field of transportation."

Three members, all of whom would be city council members, would be appointed by the City Selection Committee (of the County Council of Mayors), with one member from each of the judicial districts in the county.

The original six members would then appoint three public members, with the specification that one of the latter three be a resident of the Coastside.

Except for the terms of the original board members, the term of office of each member would be four years. Members of the first board would classify themselves by lot so that the term of office of four members would be two years and the term of five members four years.

(Each member of the board would receive compensation, as determined by the board, of an amount not to exceed $50 for each meeting attended, but not to exceed $100 in any one month, plus actual expenses incurred in the performance of duty.)

Although the county cannot spend public funds to promote the transit measure, Supervisor William H. Royer who is a member of the Transit Development Project Board of Control, notes that employes are authorized to organize and bargain under state and local legislation, but that there is no right to strike.

THE TRANSIT bill provides for collective bargaining and for arbitration and fact-finding commissions appointed by the governor.

The 60 per cent voter approval for general obligation bonds gives the tranist district a "preference" over such bond proposals by school districts and other entities, the Town Hall Association contends.

Royer notes that the original legislation proposed by a simple majority for passage of a bond measure and that the county requested the 60 per cent figure.

A 60 per cent margin is "substantial" and any issue that passes with that margin is "sure to be a popular issue," the citizen committee maintains.

The Town Hall Association also is concerned that the sales tax of one half of one per cent could be imposed without sufficient justification.

The citizens committee admits that no comprehensive transit system can exist without the support of local tax dollars.

"If we, as citizens, want transit, we'll have to help support it," the committee says.

However, both Royer and the committee say that current funds available from state and federal sources, with the addition of fare revenues, will be sufficient to fund the proposed transit district operation for a period of five years.

THE TOWN HALL Association also is concerned that the legislation provides for joining expensive, problem plagued BART by a mere majority vote of the electorate.

Proponents of the district note that at least the legislation provides for a separate vote of the electorate before BART can be brought further into the county. Meanwhile BART could not extend into the county without such a vote. There currently is no existing law which says that a vote of the electorate is needed to buy into BART.

The Town Hall Association would like to see the board of supervisors, as elected officials, become directors of a county-wide bus system under a county ordinance.

Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R., Redwood City, who was one of the authors of the legislation providing for the transit district vote, admits this might be preferable.

However, he noted, this would require complete agreement and cooperation among the county's 19 cities on a transit system, a thoroughly difficult, if not impossible situation.

ROYER REPORTS that the county's cities have voted overwhelmingly against the ordinance method and that the MTC has indicated some serious doubts about whether state and fed- eral funds would be available under that system.

Arnett said last week that a recent survey indicates that the county's residents are about evenly divided concerning formation of a transit district, with the strongest support in the north end and the greatest opposition in the south end.

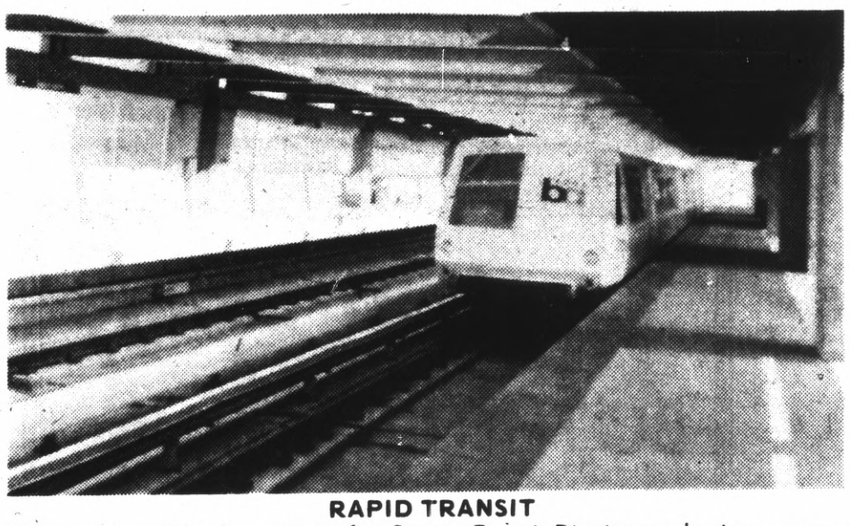
Other than its power to raise the current sales tax rate from one-fourth of one per cent to one-half of one per cent, the transit district would have no taxing power. If it wanted to impose a prop- erty tax for revenue it would have to seek the approval of a majority of the voters.

The transit district legislation provides that the district must, before starting any transit service or system, complete the purchase of any existing system.

THE DISTRICT and the public utility operating the existing system may agree upon the purchase price or may agree that the purchase price is to be established by arbitration.

In the acquisition by the district of any public utility under eminent domain proceedings, the state Public Utilities Commission would have the power to fix the compensation.

Furthermore, there could be no taking of any railroad property unless the PUC, after a hearing, finds that the public interest and necessity require the abandonment, removal, relocation or use of such property, and that acquisition would not unreasonably impair the ability of the railroad to provide safe, adquate, economical and efficient service.



RAPID TRANSIT

Proponents of the formation of a County Transit District emphasize passage of Proposition A will not necessarily mean BART will enter San Mateo County.

Light Turnout For Transit Discussion

Only a scattering of Daly City residents — perhaps two dozen in all — attended Thursday's meeting of the San Mateo County Transit District Committee.

Subject of the meeting, held at the city's War Memorial Building, was to acquaint residents with the aims of the city's committee and the need for a county-wide mass transit system.

Presenting the outline was former Daly City mayor Frank Pacelli and former Menlo Park councilman William Lawson.

Pacelli emphasized throughout his presentation that county residents would not be voting for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, but for a local transit network of buses which would allow people to travel from their homes to stores and inter-city.

Lawson based much of his argument for the new transit district (Prop. A on the Nov. 5 ballot) on the increase in air pollution and heavy traffic use throughout the Bay Area — especially along the Peninsula.

Pacelli outlined the history of local rapid transit district's, including the now-defunct Westbay Rapid Transit District, during an hour-long question and answer period.

Each city's bus system would be integrated with other city systems to allow residents city-to-city movement, Pacelli said.

Pacelli allowed that one obstacle the committee was having difficulty in overcoming, was fear that the nine-member board of directors of the proposed district (three supervisors, three representative councilmen and three citizens at large) would levy taxes on the district through sales tax.

There is a recommendation that a half cent sales tax, in addition to the present one-fourth cent sales tax, to offset any operational deficiencies, howeve$1r such was not expected to come into effect for about two years, he explained.

"I don't want to have people think they will be getting a free ride," Pacelli said.

Noting there is an "urgency in putting this plan into effect," Pacelli said he "hopes the committee is endorsing a project that is best for everybody (in San Mateo County.)

And while the small Daly City Northgate Transit District system is providing a service, "like Greyhound and Southern Pacific it is totally inadequate," he said.

An elderly woman complained that she and other senior citizens have been refusing jury duty because of the poor transportation system to Redwood City.

"There just is no good transportation to the court (in Redwood City)," she said.

A man who works nights said he had difficulty in getting to his job because of limited bus and rail service.

Concert Plans In DC Unveiled

Declaring that "San Mateo County is a cultural wasteland," two members of the county's Chamber Music Society last Tuesday unfolded plans for staging four concerts in Daly City next year.

Cost of the concerts could cost taxpayers as much as $7,000 — a price Councilman Paul Hupf felt was a high price for such a limited number of concerts.

Some $5,000 would be necessary to revamp the council stage (making tables and bench removable), with the remainder of the monies used to offset cost of paying professional musicians.

Hupf not only took affront to the cost, but to the "cultural wasteland" statement offered by Helen Beyer, executive director of the society.

For a number of years Hupf has been a member of the San Francisco Opera, often participating in productions.

He contended Daly Cityites would rather travel 15 minutes into San Francisco to watch such performances than to attend local concerts.

"Your offering us an unproven product at a rather high cost," Hupf remarked.

Most of the money would go to musicians and to the executive director, it was brought out during the meeting.

Hupf remarked that the society was asking Daly City to provide funds "but I don't see anything coming from your end," he said.

The councilman apparently was referring to the fact that while the society wanted to cultivate this "wasteland" of culture it was not willing to have musicians volunteer their services.

Along with director Beyer, outlining the society's plan for the concerts throughout the county, was Dr. Erwin E. Gordon, president of the society.

Dr. Gordon felt it was time Daly City, and the entire county, had its own cultural groups and explained he felt the Chamber concerts is a stepping stone to fulfilling this goal.

Councilman Anthony Giammona suggested use of the high schools' little theaters for the concerts, charging a nominal fee, before the city was approached to expend tax monies.

This also would give both sides an idea of what the community's response will be to the project.

Another councilman, Victor Kyriakis, said he would also like to proceed with caution on the idea, however he said "I always have encouraged more culture" in the city.

Daly City recently opened an art gallery in its City Hall (second floor) with paintings by local known artists.

Industrial Exhibition At County Fairgrounds

One of Northern California's leading industrial displays will celebrate its tenth anniversary when the Northern California Industrial Exposition convenes at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds now through Oct. 25.

On display will be some of the newest metal working machines shown for the first time in the United States a month ago at the National Machine Tool Show in Chicago.

To cooperate with normal industry hours the show traditionally runs from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday. Friday's hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Featured again this year will be buying teams from some of the larger organizations in the area such as General Services Administration, Lawrence Livermore Laboratory and United Air Lines.

As at most NCIE shows, tools and tooling are leading categories of products on display, but this year they will be augmented by many new lines of industrial equipment meeting today's special needs. Producers Phil Freeman and Penn DeRoche predict an attendance of at least 12,000 Bay Area industry persons.

Ryan to Appear In Daly City

The public is invited to meet Congressman Leo J. Ryan at a Candidate Night at North County Democratic Headquarters, 6331 Mission street, Daly City Oct. 24, at 8 p.m.

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan also may be present. A number of other candidates will have county chairmen or other representatives present.

The Candidate Night is an informal evening sponsored by local Democratic Clubs giving the public a chance to talk with candidates. Refreshments also will be served Twelve Democratic candidates will be on North County ballots Nov 5.

A Trip to 'Brizbin'

Mayor Returns From the 'Land Down Under'

Brisbane, California and Brisbane, Australia have a few things in common.

For one thing, both cities spell their names exactly alike—although Australians pronounce their city's name 'Brizbin.'

And for another, both are adjacent to mountains and a bay.

MEMBERSHIP MONTH

Brisbane, Australia is on the Brisbane River, while San Mateo County's Brisbane has the Guadalupe Canal.

However, the greatest thing both cities seem to have in common is an unshakable bond of kinship, primarily due to the sister city ties established in 1964.

Brisbane, Australia encompasses about 375,000 square miles and 900,000 residents, while Brisbane, California is a mere fraction of that size, with a population of some 3,000.

Mayor Anja Miller and her husband, Raymond, recently returned from an 11-day goodwill visit to that country and, besides bringing back some "very warm memories," she has presented several ideas for fostering closer ties to the "Lanjld Down Under."

An english teacher, Mayor Miller plans to have the fourth grade pupils at Brisbane Elementary School start a pen pal club with Australian schoolchildren. She also envisions establishing ties between her city's women's organizations and those in Australia, she said.

The first local representative to visit Australia was Brisbane mayor Dale With and his wife seven years ago. Since that time, the two cities have cemented lasting ties through correspondence and personal meetings, mayor Miller explained.

In both cases the trip has been paid for by the Warana Festival Committee and Brisbane City.

The mayor left for Austrailia on Sept. 25 to attend the "Warana," (Blue Skies) or Spring Festival (our autumn is Australia's spring).

After 25 hours of flight the Millers were greeted by the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor of Brisbane, Clem Jones, and the Lady Mayoress, hosts for the visit.

She witnessed no negative reactions to Americans during her stay, mayor Miller said.

"We heard nothing but positive remarks — they like us (Americans) very much," she said.

Asked if singer Frank Sinatra's recent controversy in Australia had any detrimental affects on relations between our countries, she replied:

"I heard something about it, but my mission was a goodwill visit, as guest of honor of the festival, and I attempted to stay away from matters of this sort."

In her nine days in that country Mayor Miller gave 10 speeches — one within hours after stepping off the plane.

Throughout the entire "Blue Skies" festival only one dark cloud threatened to soak the proceedings.

An irate Brisbane, California woman wrote to the Australian government claiming Mrs. Miller was not a "true representative of this city."

The matter was brushed off after an Australian newsman called city hall and asked Joyce Snyder, assistant city clerk, if the letter charges had any foundation.

According to newspaper reports, Mrs. Snyder dismissed the unidentified woman writer as "a ding-a-ling."

DC Woman Shoots Self And Lives

A Daly City woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital after shooting herself with a .38 caliber handgun shortly before 10 p.m. Saturday.

Police said the bullet passed through a ventricle in her heart, but did not kill her.

Police Sgt. Steve Steen theorized the slug did not "tumble" as it entered the victim's chest, rather it passed cleanly through.

The woman, identified by police as Eleanor Fergusen, 48, of 26 Dockside Drive, had been out to a party with her husband and had returned home.

Mrs. Fergusen's husband left the home after dropping off his wife to return to the party, Steen said.

Shortly after, the woman took her husband's gun and shot herself in the left chest, police said.

Accident Victim Improves

An 11-year-old Jefferson Elementary School District boy is in satisfactory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital where he was rushed Oct. 9 after being struck by a Greyhound Bus in Daly City.

MacArthur Cruz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cruz of 126 St. Francis Blvd., was hit and critically injured about 3:30 p.m. when he apparently ran in front of the bus driven by Richard Linn.

The child had been discharged from a Community Bus Service school bus, driven by Raymond McCowan, seconds before the accident.

Cruz is in the seventh grade at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School.

The accident occurred in front of 173 St. Francis, police said.

By MARY JANE CLINTON

Author Anne Alexander is a loving wife with a close-knit family. Why, then, does she create so many young characters who lack one or both parents or suffer from feelings of alienation?

Her newest book, "Trouble on Treat Street" (Atheneum, $5.95), tells the story of Manolo, a Chicano, and his relationship with Clemuel, a black who moves into his San Francisco Mission District neighborhood with his grandmother after both of his parents are killed.

"I was a little foreigner," Anne remarked in a recent interview. "I think that's why I always have a child on the outs."

Anne Alexander was born in Shanghai, the daughter of an American missionary and nurse from Harrisburg, Pa. and a Eurasian riverboat pilot who plied the Yangtze between Ichang and Chungking. "I never saw America until I was 12," Anne related.

Landing on American shores after a 28-day boat trip, Anne recalled that "I was terrified . . . of traffic and noise . . . After all, I was a country girl brought up in the hills around Chungking . . . I was an alien."

Because of this experience, the Burlingame resident has been able to "get inside" her characters to describe their feelings of loneliness and fear.

Why did she undertake such a book as "Trouble on Treat Street"?

"My daughter, Barbara Constanti, a teacher's aide in East Palo Alto, complained about the lack of books for children in the schools there," Anne stated. "Trouble" was an easy-to-read book for school use but she "threw it away" when she found she could not write a painfully simple story. What she didn't throw away was the concept of one boy established in a neighborhood and another boy moving in.

While Treat Street does exist in San Francisco (as Treat Avenue running between Folsom and Harrison Streets), the story itself is not actually laid there. Treat Street is just a name to denote the Mission District atmosphere. "I did case the joint before I wrote the book," Anne said. "Then I went back afterwards and, if anything, the situation had become tougher. There were more iron grills on the windows and doors . . . iron bars are a symbol of hostility."

Family experiences are incorporated into Mrs. Alexander's books. Barbara Constanti saw the "dog fight" incident — two older kids trying to get two younger ones to fight each other — described in "Treat Street" as "Back home Clem had seen mean kids throw dogs onto each other until they snarled and fought in desperation and fear."

How did she draw her characters? "I just got involved with the youngsters and how they would think."

Clem's "Granny" is not one person but a composite woman representing an older way. "It was pointed out to me that a lot of women are grandmothers at age 40 and that 'Granny' is older. But she is symbolic. There is a great deal of religious antagonism in the younger generation. They feel that religion has held them down."

ANNE ALEXANDER

Although Anne is a member of the Pilgrim Baptist Church, she emphasizes that the minister in the book is not the Rev. Arthur Jarrott but a visiting minister from San Francisco.

Anne first began writing in the mid-50s and her first book, "ABC Book of Cars and Trucks" was written for her grandson, Jamie Constanti (he is now called Jay and is 24 years old). This current book is dedicated to her 16-month-old great grandson, Aaron Christopher Williams, son of Debbie Constanti Williams, and his uncle Charley, Aaron's 11-year-old uncle and Jay's brother.

Perhaps one reason that Anne writes about children with such feeling is that she has not been away from youngsters since her oldest daughter was born 41 years ago.

Currently she is caring for two granddaughters: 4-year-old Sabrina whose mother, Sharon Wemple, works for Opportunities Industrialization Center West, and 12-year-old Kathy Krueger, whose mother, Carol Krueger, teaches at Oceana High School. Sabrina is enrolled in St. Paul's Cooperative Nursery School which makes Anne the only grandmother currently involved in that school's activities (she does her stint every Monday morning).

This busy life would hardly seem to leave Mrs. Alexander any time to write. Yet, "Trouble on Treat Street" is her ninth book. She rises at 5 a.m. each day and works on her writing until 8 a.m. (She was careful to point out that this does not mean that she actually writes for a full three hours.) She currently is working on the revision for her 10th book, "Two Live a Lie," a suburban tale of a young girl and her father. Her 11th book, "Johnny Mae," a story about a black girl moving into suburbia, is in the writing stage.

Children and grandchildren have always been a help in her writing as have friends. She recalls, "The criticism that I got about 'The Pink Dress' (a story for subteens), was that the father was not realistic. Well, my husband Charles was never home for dinner fights. He works nights and the times he was home were special ones. So, now I call my friends and let them tell me about their table fights."

Charles copyreads his wife's manuscripts. "He tries not to criticize, but he will present a question if I don't make something clear."

Anne tries not to stereotype roles sexually — Manolo baby sits — but admits that the main character in her next book has a traditional woman's role. "It is about a girl whose father has taken his children away after a marital breakup . . . I'm afraid that she does have a 'girl's role' in that she gets in and cooks and does housework because she is the oldest and there isn't anyone else to do it."

How did she get into writing? "My mother told me I was a bore," she related. "Kathryn Forbes McLean had just published her best seller, 'I Remember Mama'. (The late Mrs. McLean was a fellow member of the Burlingame Writers Club and a Burlingame resident.) She told me to go to night school, which I did. You listened to other people's manuscripts and I thought, 'Well, I can do that well'."

You'd think that Anne Alexander would have no spare time. Yet she reviews books for a Peninsula publication, makes her own bread ("If you have any animosities you get rid of them kneading bread") and knits and "Right now, I'm leaving here to get curtain material."

This summer she and her husband went back-packing in the Thousand Lakes area. No doubt we'll be reading about that.

Members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild will have a full agenda when the group convenes for the regular monthly meeting Friday at 12:30 p.m.

Officers and members of the tray favor committee will gather two hours earlier for separate sessions. Mrs. Virginia Hupf and her committee face the mammoth task of making favors for all the upcoming holidays and the executive board will be pondering projected events, such as the boutique, card sale, the champagne preview and other events.

During the regular meeting, members will hear the facts and figures on the extremely successful Serramonte Day from chairwoman Mrs. Millie Dunow, and consider President Mrs. Fran Gaffigan's request for a second vice president.

Members are being asked to bring costume jewelry they no longer wesr, so that it can be sold at the Christmas Boutique. Mrs. William Corbett, once again chairmwn of the holiday fund raiser, has announced that the traditional champagne opening will be Nov 14. In a break with traditional, a special guest has been invited to greet the browsers and shoppers and pour champagne at the opening.

Mrs. Corbett reports that through special arrangements made by members of the guild with the ambassador from the North Pole, Santa Claus, in person, will be on hand dispensing holiday cheer. Sounds like great fun and a delightful way to start your Christmas shopping! Mrs. Corbett has the able assistance of Mrs. D. Parenti and Mrs. William Lindsay in boutique preparations.

Mrs. Norman Cyr asked that Christmas Card shoppers consider purchasing cards from the guild this year. Proceeds from the sale of the cards are used to benefit Mary's Help Hospital. Card shoppers may see the catalogues any day on the second floor of the hospital.

MRS. PATTI McCLAIN, former Daly City Chorus director and past president of the North Peninsula Auxiliary of Florence Crittenton Services, has announced that she has two upcoming dates to present her Century Collection of American Fashions.

This Friday she will present her extensive collection of authentic gowns and accessories worn by American women in the period from 1840 to 1950 at a special program sponsored by the Agape Chapter of the Aid to Adoption of Special Kids (AASK).

Persons who would like to attend this benefit, to be held in the Heather Farms Clubhouse, 1751 Heather Drive in Walnut Creek, are required to make reservations. Contact Mrs. Walter Lautenberger, 283-3398 or 283-2266. Tickets are being sold for $5 per person. Punch will be served at noon with the luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Those who feel the jaunt to Walnut Creek is a mite long will be pleased to know that the next showing of the collection will be right in our back yard. The North Peninsula Auxiliary of Florence Crittenton Services has arranged to have Mrs. McClain and her collection appear at the 'California Gold Club in South San Francisco Nov. 20. Tickets are already being sold and Mrs. Bill Pappas will be delighted to hear from anyone who wishes to make reservations.

MRS. LELAND STANFEL, publicity chairwoman for the Riordan Guild reminds ticket holders that this Saturday is the day of the Riordan Follies.

Mrs. James Choate is chairwoman of the fashion show and luncheon which will be held inthe Chaminade Hall on the Riordan High School campus.

ANYONE PLANNING to attend the Sodality Enrollment Breakfast and Mass at Our Lady of Mercy this Sunday is reminded to contact Mrs. Harry Lindner, 756-1069, for reservations. There is no charge but members of the Sodality must know how many guests to prepare for, according to Mrs. Lin Dougherty, publicity chairman

Mass will be at 9 a.m. with the breakfast to follow in the parish hall.

JUST HOW IMPORTANT is a comprehensive day care center to the mothers and children of Daly City? That is a question that will be explored, in depth, at a meeting to be held on Tuesday, October 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the War Memorial Community Center, 6655 Msission St.

Mrs. Nemar Gonzalez, one of the moving forces behind the drive to establish a day care center for working mothers and their children, reports that the meeting is being planned to find out just how great the need for infant and child care is in Daly City.

Statistics show that there are more than 5000 working mothers in Daly City alone. That statistic has encouraged a group of concerned persons to seek ways of assuring working mothers that their children will be adequately and constructively attended while they are working.

This past week Mrs. Gonzales Kessler of the Community Service Center, Mrs. Carol Goluback of the Legal Aid Society and John Bragg of the Family and Children Services of San Mateo County will meet with other community organization representatives to plan for a community wide forum to determine what goals and programs would be realistic.

If you are a working mother or are a mother contemplating working outside your home, plan to attend Tuesday evening's meeting.

FRIENDS OUTSIDE reports that there has been heart warming response from local students to an appeal for volunteers at the child care center at the San Bruno jail.

Tom Coleman, coordinator of volunteers at the San Francisco Jail in San Bruno has recruited a number of young people from South San Francisco High School and Skyline College to care for children whose mothers are visiting prisoners.

Any student interested in helping with this ongoing project is urged to call the Friends Outside office, 3103 Nineteenth Avenue in San Francisco.

Sisterhood Sets Hard Times Party

Saturday, Nov. 2, the Sisterhood of Congregation Beth Israel will hold its Hard Times Party. The evening will start with no-host cocktails from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. followed by a spaghetti dinner.

There will be live music and dancing throughout the evening. Make reservations by calling Marlene Bauer at 756-0877. The event will be held at the Temple on Brotherhood Way in San Francisco.

Also, the Sisterhood will conduct a Bagels sale. Plain, onion, egg, poppy and sesame seed will be available at $1.70 per dozen.

All orders may be picked up at the Temple on Brotherhood Way Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Beth Israel Judea Gift Shop the Sisterhood will have a Chanukah Gift Sale Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

An assortment of imported Israeli jewelry and handcrafted items will be available.

All proceeds will benefit the Beth Israel Judea Religious School.

ENROLLED

George W. Lobdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lobdell of 1139 Bernal Ave., Burlingame, is enrolled in Officer Candidate School at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Center, Yorktown, Va.

During the 17-week course, he will receive instruction in Coast Guard orientation and history, seamanship, small arms and gunnery, firefighting and small boat handling.

Upon graduation he will be commissioned an ensign in the Coast Guard.

THE RICHARD HALLS
(Janet Damonte)

Damonte, Hall Exchange Vows

A honeymoon along the California Coast to Mexico followed the marriage of Janet Cecelia Damonte and Richard Wayne Hall.

St. Veronica's Church in South San Francisco was the nuptial site. A reception followed at the Italian-American Social Club in San Francisco.

The new matron is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuele Damonte of South San Francisco. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall of San Bruno.

Catherine Damonte was the maid of honor for her sister. Laurie and Beth Damonte, the bride's other sisters, shared secondary attendants' duties with Nancy Pistoni and Ann Byrd.

Richard asked Brian Zarker to be his best man. Ushers were Steven Ansolabehar, Todd Gibon and Dennis and David Hall, brothers of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds are both South San Francisco High School graduates. The bride, who has attended the University of San Francisco, is now continuing her education at UC at Davis where her husband is a graduate student. He earned his bachelor's degree at San Francisco State.

The couple is living in Davis.

Grand National

It is rodeo time in San Francisco and Daly City!

The 1974 Grand National is slated for the Cow Palace from Oct. 25 through Nov. 3 with Oct. 30 as Daly City Day.

The Grand National has been called a jaw-jerking athletic event but it is more than that. It is a colorful show that features smooth jumpers and saddle-bred ponies as well as broncs and wild bulls. It is also a livestock exposition with more than 3,000 purebreds in the "Wests' biggest, richest livestock showcase."

The rodeo portion of the show will feature 10 days of riding, wrestling and roping in one of the two largest indoor rodeos in the world. The men who will participate are real cowboys not hired hands in cowboy boots, but men whom author Glen Rounds calls "genuine bronc-stompin' cowboys, brass-bound, copper-riveted throughout, with iron backbones and tails screwed on — not a carnival hand in the lot."

In the Grand National, as in nearly every rodeo, cowboys ride for prize money in certain major events. Among these are bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, brahma bull riding and cutting horse contests. In each contest the men are pitted against animals that Rounds calls "outlaws: full of plain and fancy cussedness, who dislike men and are ready to prove it."

THE EVENTS of the Grand National Horseshow are interspersed with the rodeo events. This year there will be 2,500 entries with world championing jumpers and race horses among them. In each contest hours of training and the discipline become evident. Quickly one sees why Ben Jonson called horsemanship an art worthy of princes.

The 1974 Grand National takes on greater meaning for the people of Daly City and Northern San Mateo County because the Daly City Host Lions Club has become a sponsor. As a result, a portion of each ticket sold by the Lions Club members or an organization that has joined them in the project will be used in the community.

Some of the funds thus gathered will be used to finance youth activities within the City of Daly City and surrounding areas. These activities make competitive baseball, football and basketball available to every young person in the community regardless of his proficiency.

So buy a ticket to the Grand National, and enjoy yourself. And if you need some help call at your library. There you will find such materials as "How To Watch A Rodeo" in the April 1972 "Better Homes and Gardens."

Check Halloween Costume Labels

Bh LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

A child's joyous occasion has often resulted in tragedy, and too often in death, from burns. A beautiful child came dancing down the stairs in her sparkling fairy dress. A few hours later she was dead. The fairy costume had gone up in flames.

When you make or purchase that Halloween costume for your child be sure to check the labels. "Fire resistant" and "flame retardant" on fabrics, costumes, beards and wigs do not mean that the garment or material is fireproof and will not burn. The label only indicates that the mterials are made of properties that retard flames or fire and will burn more slowly than untreated material.

Heed any DO NOT WASH warnings. Washing could remove the protection for the costume.

When your child goes trick or treating make sure that his costume is visible to motorists. Inexpensive reflective tape can easily be added to the costume for this protection.

Give your child a flashlight to carry. Never allow open candles to be carried.

Costumes should be short enough so that the child can skip and run without tripping. Bulky, awkward costumes restrict movement and can cause dangerous accidents.

Masks or disguises should not impair a child's visiom or breathing. A natural cosmetic or charcoal "mask" applied directly to the skin is usually the safest and least expensive.

Performers Guild Slates Workshop

The Performers and Composers Guild of the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society will hold its second workshop of the season for members and guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sumner in San Mateo Oct. 26, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The workshops are sponsored for the purpose of hearing member composers' works, for providing an audience for members who wish to play for a group in a nonconcert environment, for introducing young musicians and composers in the community to the "Chamber Music Experience," and to afford musicians and singers an opportunity to explore chamber music repertoire together.

Workshop Chairman is Joseph McCauley.

Recently elected officers of the Guild are: president, Peter Sacco; vice president, Donald Stenberg; financial secretary, Sylvia Kamin; and corresponding/recording secretary, Ruth Klipfel.

For details contact the Society's headquarters at 730 Winchester Drive in Burlingame.

FRIENDS REVIEW

Friends of the Daly City Library will present a review on Red China, with emphasis on the life of its people tomorrow at 10 a.m., in the Coral Room of the Westlake Branch. Speaker for the occasion will be a member of the United States China Friendship Association. Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, book review chairman, will have library books on Red China on display. The Friends will hold a no-host luncheon honoring the speaker immediately after the event at the King Wah Restaurant, 209 Southgate Ave. Looking over the restaurant menu are (from left) John Sullivan, library liaison to the Friends; Mrs. John Connolly, Friends president; and Mrs. Klaus Tschorsnig, hospitality chairwoman. The public is invited to attend.

'Gymnastics Fantastics' At TN

By SANDI BRYANT
Campus Correspondent

Terra Nova High School's student body and Farrell's Ice Cream Restaurant sponsored "Gymnastic Fantastics" last week.

Al Carter, winner of 44 gold and six silver medals in inter-states competition, performed various stunts on the trampoline with his two children, Daren, 5, and Wendy, 9. Daren demonstrated all the basic types of falls for the assembly. Al and Wendy also performed a clown act on the trampoline.

Carter, 33, started on the trampline in his freshman year in high school in Colombia Falls, Montana. He is a professional gymnast.

During the last portion of the performance, Al performed a forward suicide dive, a dive straight on the head. He was given harty applause for his dare-devil stunts.

Morris Liston will serve as SME family enrollment chairman with Fred Adams chairing the Scouting family enrollment campaign.

San Bruno community enrollment chairman is Fred Milam; the Daly City-Broadmoor-Colma community enrollment chairman is Larry Anderson; the South San Francisco chairman is yet to be appointed.

Other recent appointments include George Swain as Northern District Scouting Chairman and Bill Crader as District Cubbing chairman.

Commissioners, under Bill Proctor for Scouting and Bruce Hood for Cubbing, will assist in recruiting unit Sustaining Membership Enrollment at the troop and pack level. Mrs. Roz Morino will handle publicity for the local fund-raising drive.

AARP Plans Meeting and Lecture

The Daly City Area Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet at 2 p.m. Oct. 26 at the United Methodist Church, 1474 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

Program Director Dorothy Arnold reports Austin Amerine, counselor of the health plans will talk on the AARP insurance program.

A question and answer period will follow. Vera Soderstrom, AARP State Director, will present the chapter with their official charter.

Deadline Set for PG&E Scholarship Program

Time is running out for high school seniors to seek financial help for their college educations.

Oct. 31 is the deadline to apply for a four-year $4,000 college scholarship under Pacific Gas and Electric Company's James B. Black award program.

Seventeen outstanding seniors each will be awarded $1,000 a year for four years while attending an accredited college or university in the United States.

In addition, 34 runners-up each will be presented with a one-time $500 scholarship.

All high school seniors in PG&E's Northern and Central California service area are eligible to apply, according to Dr. David B. Stewart, the company's director of educational activities.

Thirteen of the scholarships are awarded on a geographical basis; two more are allocated to children of PG&E employes and two others are special recognition scholarships given to students who have made significant achievements despite economic, environmental or motivational disadvantages.

This is the ninth year of the awards, made in memory of PG&E's late president and board chairman, James B. Black, a long-time champion of higher education.

Locals Exchange Rings and Vows

Fischer-Chavez

Victoria, B.C., and Washington state were on the honeymoon itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stephen Chavez who are now living in South San Francisco.

The couple was married at Calvary Lutheran Church in Millbrae before the Rev. Norman Nelson, pastor. A reception followed at Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

The new Mrs. Chavez is the former Linda Diane Fischer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Fischer of Millbrae. Mr. and Mrs. Rene Chavez of San Bruno are the bridegroom's parents.

When Linda walked to the altar with her father, she was dressed in a white organza gown with a Venise lace bodice. Members of her bridal party selected lavender organza gowns trimmed in white lace.

Diane Giovannini of Millbrae was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Susie and Debbie Fischer, sisters of the bride, Carol Chavez, the bridegroom's sister, and Robin Fowler of Millbrae.

Richard asked Dennis Alexander of Pacifica to be his best man. Ushers were Phil Cazahoos of San Francisco, Dave Alexander of San Bruno, Frank Baldanzi of San Mateo and Roger Chavez, the bridegroom's cousin.

The bride is a graduate of Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo. Richard, who attended the University of California at Davis, is now in his senior year at UC at Berkeley where he is majoring in civil engineering.

Schlaepfer-Tremaine

Mary Jane Schlaepfer and Richard E. Tremaine were married recently at ceremonies conducted by the Rev. Gerald Ballein at Mt. Hermon in Felton. The late afternoon rites were followed by a dinner reception at Costella's Chalet in Felton.

The new Mrs. Tremaine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schlaepfer of South San Francisco. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tremaine of Sacramento.

Maid of honor for her sister was Betty Schlaepfer. Peggy Styer served as the bridesmaid.

Best man duties were performed by Larry Kerr. Steve Styer seated guests.

The newlyweds are both graduates of the University of California at Davis where he majored in electrical engineering and she studied personnel management. They honeymooned in Carmel and are living now in the Diablo Valley area.

The couple was honored at a reception given by the Schlaepfers at San Bruno First Baptist Church social hall.

Workshop for Women Set

"The Emerging Woman in Management", a workshop designed exclusively for women to build their confidence and management skills via group dynamics, will take place in San Francisco Nov. 12 through 14.

The three-day event is geared for women who already hold managerial positions or have the potential to move into management roles. The number of participants will be limited to facilitate learning and provide personal contact with the moderators.

In the workshop sessions, emphasis will be placed on developing leadership and communication skills, determining how women function in competition with each other and with men, improving self-image, and overcoming fears of management positions. Fundamentals of teamwork and decision making also will be covered.

Program moderators Judith Grossenbacher and Robert Wall both have broad experience in management consulting.

The fee includes all workshop material, lunches, and personal consultations with the moderators.

Local Witnesses to Align Congregations

The next semi-annual convention of Jehovah's Witnesses from this area will see the local Witnesses in a new alignment of congregations.

At the convention, which will be held Nov. 2 and 3 at the Witnesses' Bay Area Assembly Hall in Fremont, the congregation from San Bruno will meet with congregations from Colma to San Mateo — a realignment necessitated by the Witnesses' steady growth on the Peninsula.

"We have to keep reorganizing things because there are so many new congregations," said Herman Bachtle, a Burlingame resident and convention manager for many years.

"In this area alone, we have new groups in Millbrae, South City and Pacifica. Peninsula people respond very well to our ministry, and we have baptized many new ministers here in the last few years."

According to Bachtle, this pattern of growth is enjoyed worldwide by the Witnesses. "Our annual growth in numbers of active ministers — we don't keep membership rolls — is on the order of ten per cent.

With about 1,900,000 ministers worldwide last year, we baptized 199,000 new ones. All of them have made significant changes in their way of life to conform to Bible standards."

Bachtle invited all Peninsula residents to attend the convention, which is to be held at the Bay Area Assembly Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 16600 Osgood Road in Fremont. Sessions start Saturday morning and conclude Sunday afternoon.

Tagalog Mass To be Offered In Daly City

Rev. John Mullen, Pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, 60 Wellington Avenue, Daly City, invites the public to attend a Tagalog Mass Oct. 26 at 5:30 p.m.

The mass will be celebrated by Rev. Fred Bitanga, Associate Pastor of St. Patrick's Church in San Francisco.

This monthly tagalog mass is celebrated every last Saturday of the month. The choir is led by the Filipino Dominican Sisters of St. Paul's Parish. Father Bitanga's homily will touch on increased participation in the recitation of the rosary daily in line with October being the month of the rosary.

Father Bitanga extends a personal invitation to interested persons to come forward and help in the formulation of plans for the fast approaching Christmas and New Year's Mass to be celebrated Dec. 28.

Hopefully, Philippine religious customs and celebrations can be included in the December mass; Father Bitanga said.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Indian summer is here. The warm, even hot, sunny days make me think of picnics, barbecues, outdoor activities and eating. But alas, by the time this column reaches your hands we may be bundled up in warm coats with our heads sheltered by scarves to protect us from the cold winds and damp fog. Such is life.

Even on a cold and windy day you can have an indoor barbecue by preparing this delicious chicken for dinner. The sauce is easily prepared and tops the chicken with spicy flavorings.

BAKED BARBECUED CHICKEN

- 3 pounds chicken parts
- ½ cup chopped celery
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup cooking oil
- 2 Tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 Tablespoons vinegar
- 2 Tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 Tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 can tomato sauce
- ¼ cup water
- three-fourths cup catsup
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 clove garlic

To make seasoned flour, combine about 1 cup flour, one teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon each pepper and paprika. Place in a clean paper bag. Shake the chicken in bag to coat with flour. Then cook slowly in hot fat in skillet until lightly browned.

Make a barbecue sauce by cooking the half cup each celery and onion in the fourth cup cooking oil in saucepan until tender. Remove from heat and add the two tablespoons each brown sugar, vinegar and Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoon prepared mustard, one can tomato sauce, one-fourth cup water, three-fourths cup catsup, fourth cup lemon juice, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth tea spoon pepper and clove garlic. Simmer for 20 minutes, remove garlic.

Arrange chicken in a greased, shallow baking pan. Spoon sauce over top. Bake covered for 45 minutes and uncovered for 15 minutes longer in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Serves 6.

If you make this dessert first, your oven will be preheated for the barbecued chicken.

PEACH KUCHEN

- 1 package white cake mix
- ½ cup butter
- 1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can sliced peaches, drained
- 2 Tablespoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 slighly beaten egg

Add the half cup butter to the cake mix until mixture resembles crumbs. Press lightly into bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Bake 350-degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Arrange drained peaches over crust. Combine the two tablsepoons sugar with the half teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle evenly over peaches. Blend the one cup sour cream with the one slightly beaten egg and pour over peaches.

Bake 350-degrees until sour cream is set. About 10 minutes. Serves 10 to 12.

Lecture Series to Focus on Divorce

A series of lectures is being offered for those undergoing or contemplating divorce.

The program, designed to help the individual or couple come to terms with the problems of divorce, is open to all interested adults. The first lecture will take place Wednesday at the Congregational Church of San Mateo, 225 Tilton Avenue. Subsequent programs also will take place at the church, and the starting time for each is 8 p.m.

"Alternatives to Conventional Marriage" will be the topic of Wednesday's program. The speakers will be Dr. Anita Fisher, a psychology teacher at the College of San Mateo, and Dr. Norma Davies, a research psychologist. The two, who are marriage counselor partners in Palo Alto, jointly will discuss the effects of women's lib and communal living on marriage.

The second program in the series will take place Oct. 30. Mrs. Charlotte Ross, executive director of Suicide Prevention Center of San Mateo County, will give advice on "Handling Crisis."

"Married Today, Single Tomorrow— Legal Aspects" will be the topic of discussion on Nov. 6 when George Corey, past mayor of San Bruno, addresses the group. An attorney and a San Bruno city councilman, he will give professional and personal views of the legal aspects of the Family Law Act as opposed to the old divorce legislation.

On Nov. 13, "Breaking Free of Divorce" will be discussed by Dr. Gerald Smith, an author and family and marriage counselor in private practice in Belmont. He will talk about problems that may be encountered in marriage and offer suggestions on how couples can cope with them.

The final program in the series will be given on Nov. 20 by Mrs. Marth Donner, a licensed clinical social worker in private practice. Mrs. Donner will moderate a panel of six on the topic "Stay Together or Separate."

A question and answer period will follow each lecture which is open to the public free of charge. The programs are supported entirely by voluntary contributions. Parents Without Partners, San Mateo Chapter 54, is sponsoring the series entitled "Separate of Salvage."

President Of Symphony Is L. Metcalf

Lawrence V. Metcalf was elected President of the San Francisco Symphony Association.

He has been associated with the San Francisco Symphony Association for more than 35 years and as a member of the Board since the 1953-54 season he has been closely associated with its operation.

Former President of the Association, David N. Plant, informed the Board that due to personal reasons he would not stand for re-election as President following the forthcoming annual meeting in November. He will remain a member of the Board of Governors.

GIRL SCOUTING

THORNTON BEACH Ranger Larry Thomas led almosty 50 Brownie Girl Scouts, their Cadette friends and leaders on a nature hike following the recent Brownie Beauty hike themed "Brownies Keep America Beautiful."

From the Westlake Shopping Center, to Thornton State Beach, the Brownies collected litter along the streets and roads. The event was coordinated by Special Events Chairwoman for the Daly City Girl Scouts Mrs. Caroline Dutrell.

TROOP NO. 1704 Brownies Susan Roth, Jaonne Desmond, Kim Salkind, Sherrie O'Balle, Staci Kalman, Annette Hom, Penney Law, Diane Sabbatani, Maureen Agius, Susan Plichcik and Sonya Cirano were led by Misses Sue Scaduto and Cheryl Figone and Mrs. Wayne Law.

TROOP NO. 1073 Brownies Regina Ramos, Jenni Sullivan, Mariam Qli, Natalie Valkdez, Loren Kelley, Lisa Dunn, Heather Burgett and Vicki Sullivan were led by Mesdames Trish Sullivan, Shirley Burgett and Louise Ramos.

TROOP NO. 2282 Brownies Cherie Schueszler, Karen Holt, Tracey and Sharon Yancy and Julie Bross were led by Mrs. Estelle Schueszler.

CADETTES Susan and Carol Hall, Elizabeth Christian, Christy Dowd, Karen Schwarzbach, Lori Brandt, Corrine Antunez and Debbie Bonomi of TROOP NO. 716 help lead the hike and litter collection project.

Additional Cadette Scouts helping included Sharon Scott, Julie Savignano, Michyle LaPedis, Dorene Fratto, Jeri Ylukou, Pam and Sunday Chung, Lisa Braski, Cindy Lewkowitz and Kathy Hansel of TROOP NO. 1620; and Nanette Futrell, Diana Law, Jeanne Friend, Susan Yoshioka, Kim Erler and Jeanette Bess of TROOP NO. 1636.

PROGRAM helps for Brownie and Junior Girl Scout leaders, West Bay session, is scheduled for today from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. in San Francisco, at Temple Methodist Church. A car pool is forming at 9 a.m. at 30 Terrace Drive, at the home of Association Chairwoman Mrs. Margaret Connolly.

The conference on contemporary program is titled "Your Today is Her Tomorrow" and will stress involvement by troops in the Bicentennial and progressive program. The conference will focus on leaders but is open to all who want to update their Scouting skills.

JUNIORS SWIM tomorrow at Jefferson High's pool from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. with Mrs. Mary Tschirgi collecting the green Girl Scout permission slips at the pool. One adult pool watcher is required for each group of eight girls.

Assistant Cubmasters Appointed

Daly City Cub Pack 248 met Oct. 9, at the Thomas Edison School multi-use room with Cubmaster Austin Holian officiating.

New assistant cubmasters, Dick Futrell and Charles Erle, (Webelos) were introduced to the assembled cubs and their parents.

The Pack welcomed a new den with Vinnie Travis as den mother. The new den No. 4 members are Matt McGowan, Fred Laureano, Charles Travis, T. J. Freitas, Billy Bagnell, Mike Hansen, Mike Samson and Bobby Stone.

Officer Michael Scott of the Daly City Police Department made a presentation and answered questions regarding bicycle safety.

Pack 248 will conduct a garage sale on Nov. 9, 10 and 11 at 16 Perita, Daly City.

The next Pack meeting has been designated as Father-Son Cake Bake night and will be held on Nov. 13 at Thomas Edison.

Catholic Daughters Day

Mayor McRobert Stewart signs proclamation designating Oct. 17 Catholic Daughters of America Day in Daly City. The proclamation noted that the Court St. Mary No. 1155 in Daly City has, since 1930, engaged in programs which have made important contributions to the community. Standing with the mayor are members of the Court, Mrs. Vince Rivara and Mrs. William Cuevas.

DAY AT THE RACES

Oct. 23 is the date for the Westlake Catholic Women's "Day at the Races," the group's 18th annual affair. Mmes. John McVeigh (left) and Donald Bechtel are enjoying the sneak preview at the friendly race horses. Mrs. Julian Fernando, chairwoman, reports that a charge of $8.50 per ticket will include admission, free program, and lunch in the Turf Club. Mmes. McWeigh, 755-5936, and Bechtel, 756-5266, are taking reservations.

Pacifica OK's Food Stamps

Eligible Pacificans may buy food stamps at home again.

Reportedly, many needy persons have been going without stamps, because they had no way of getting to other cities.

The Pacifica City Council last Tuesday okayed sale of stamps at the Sharp Park Information and Referral Center, and appropriated $2,138 in "start-up costs."

The request (for stamp sale approval) had been made two weeks ago, but the council delayed action until the interested agencies could get together. The San Mateo County Health and Welare Department had also applied to the city to sell stamps, asking for space in the city manager's office.

Selma Bascara, director of Emergency Food and Medical Services for the Economic Opportunity Commission, estimated that stamp sales should start within 30 days at the Palmetto Avenue office.

She had met with Department of Public Health and Welfare officials and Mark Savage of the Pacifica Youth Service Bureau, who had also been working on a stamp program.

The stamp program will be in conjunction with the other programs of the I&R Center serving the needy. Thus, persons buying stamps might learn where to get jobs or training, as well as help in language interpretation, certification for free school lunches, free transportation when needed, and other aid.

Acting Mayor Stan Farber questioned Miss Bascara sharply on financial aspects of the stamp program and plans for security and liaison among officials. At his insistence, Miss Bascara promised that the EOC would write a letter to the council, pledging to continue to sell stamps in Pacifica for at least two years, to ensure continuity in the program.

POTLUCK

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club will hold a Potluck Dinner Oct. 29, at 6 p.m., in the school hall, 80 Wellington Ave., Daly City. The public is invited. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children 12 years of age and under, and $5 for family of five. Musical entertainment will be provided. For reservations contact Mrs. Janet Lyman, 585-7787. Seen preparing for the event are Nellie Cacicedo and Betty Traynor co-chairwomen.

Lions Urge Attendance At the Grand National

Because the 1974 Grand National has become the second largest indoor rodeo in the United States as well as one of the largest and best known horse shows in the country, the Daly City Host Lions Club will lead a drive to urge North San Mateo County residents to attend.

As chairman of the Lions Club's participation, Edward Tomasello said churches and other clubs have joined in the drive. A percentage of the price of every ticket sold will be returned to Daly City organizations for endeavors that will benefit the city.

Lion President James Zylla reports that some of the funds thus earned will be used for youth activities and some for the sight conservation programs that the Lions Club has sponsored.

Community Bazaar At Serramonte

Thirty-one non-profit organizations will gather Saturday and Sunday, for the annual fall bazaar at Serramonte Center in Daly City.

The clubs will sell handmade crafts, home-baked goods, plants and have raffles and games — all to make money for their organization's activities.

Participating in the Fall Bazaar will be the North County Mental Health Center, Holy Trinity School, Beta Sigma Chapter of E.S.A., National Eagle Scouts, the Conquistador Drum and Bugle Corps, Golden Gate Lodge No.2464, the Daly City Skylions, Bay Area Big Sisters, Tuesday Friendship Club, Alpha Iota Sorority, Daly City Host Lions Club, Indoor Sports Club for the Handicapped, Camp Fire Girls Troop No. 51, San Bruno Rainbow Girls, Salvation Army, Royal Order of Caritas, Alta Loma P.T.A, Fund for Animals, St. John's United Church of Christ, El Rancho Elementary School P.T.A., John F. Kennedy P.T.A., Jefferson Council P.T.A., Delta Chi Sigma Sorority, Girl Scout Troop No. 679, Jobs Daughters Bethel 198, Daly City Garden Club, Catholic Daughters of America No. 1904, Family Home for Adult Retarded, DeMolay Mothers' Club Chapter, Sunset Shrine No. 94, Fraternal Order of Eagles No. 5.

All organizations will decorate booths to compete for prizes.

The public is invited to attend and support a favorite chairty.

Money-Saving Special Amigo Mike"s Feature

A money-saving special is currently available at Amigo Mike, one of the Nine Garden Restaurants located on the lower level of the Tanforan Park Shopping Center, in San Bruno. Now until closing time Sunday evening, Amigo Mike is featuring a special 99 cent Mexican feast which includes a beef or cheese enchilada, Spanish rice, refried beans and tortilla chips. Usually priced at $1.79, this big appetite meal is a real Mexican food bargain. So treat the whole family this weekend to an Amigo Mike special. Olay! . . . A restaurant under new ownership is indicative of a restaurant with a fresh point of view, and this is true of the Gold Platter, in San Carlos. That point of view belongs to George Green, one-time New York City restauranteur who was fantastically successful on his home turf, and shows every indication of being just as successful at the other end of the continent . . . The Barbarossa restaurant in Redwood City is now serving luncheon from 11:45 a.m. to 3 p.m., as well as classic dinner entrees from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. The new luncheon policy of this European-style restaurant features six Luncheon Specials (to be rotated) besides a la carte, and will include such favorites as Cannelloni a la Romana, Fresh Filet of Sole with Dill Sauce, plus veal dishes and two cold items. The specials will include soup or salad and coffee.

PHILIPPINES PETITE STAR

Vivacious Norma Balagtas, considered as one of the top recording artists of the Philippines, entertains with her distinct style of singing, as well as with impersonations of other popular singers, at Ness Aquino's Mabuhay Gardens Supper Club in San Francisco. Miss Balagtas, who entertains nightly, Wednesdays through Sundays, is being backed up by the dynamic "4 Jays" with Jimmy Santa Maria at the piano.

Miller and Dale Big Finocchio Comedy Hit

Making a big hit at Finocchio's these nights is the new comedy team of Steven Miller and Mike Daly. The popular newcomers, who come direct from the Eastern seaboard, are reminiscent of the famous Two Old Bags who delighted Finocchio's audiences for so many years. Miller and Dale entertain with wacky antics, a little burlesque, and singing . . . You'll find quite a bargain every Sunday night at Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae for the next few weeks. It's a "king size" New York steak offered as a complete dinner (includes salad, potato and home made cheese rolls) at one-half price. This is a great way to treat the whole family to steak dinner without spending a small fortune . . . A regal way to treat the family on a Sunday morning is to take them to the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, for the Sunday Brunch in the Royal Hall dining room. People from all over the Bay Area are enjoying it — you should too. There's nothing quite like it on the Peninsula . . . Chef Josef Heudorf of The Shadows of San Mateo is receiving praise for his Daily Chef's Specials, which he feels are quite unique on the local restaurant scene. Specials include Braised Veal Shank, Roast Leg of Lamb, Veal Oscar, Rahmschnitzel and Roast Capon. Fresh Salmon is featured on Fridays.

Luncheon Specials Vince's Added Treat

Luncheon Specials at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant are changed daily, Monday through Friday. From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Vince Licata's efficient crew caters to the mid-day appetites of business executives, career girls, office workers, the social set, and even your Bright Lighter and staff, with luncheon dishes and a la carte items. There's something to please every taste. Service from 12 noon on Sunday . . . Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco is a popular dining spot for visiting restaurateurs. Among prominent guests in the Wellington Room the other evening: Gerald Breitbart, owner of Santa Monica's Fox and Hounds, and Wally Hollenstein, owner of the Calabasas Inn in Calabasas Park . . . Scotty Campbell's continues to be a leader in the prime ribs of beef parade. Meats are the primary attraction at this famous Redwood City dinner house which has been acclaimed as an award winning restaurant. Among other fast-moving menu items are Scampi (deep water shrimp), Half Spring Chicken (broiled or pan fried), Filet of Sole Marguery en Casserole, and Broiled Mahi Mahi Almondine . . . Headlining in Hugo's Bistro these Tuesday-through-Saturday nights is the smooth sounding Bob Lucas Trio. This intimate lounge is just steps away from Hugo's Market, the unique, new dining room at Hyatt House Burlingame.

Durby Adkins Will Assist Holiday Plans

You name the type of Holiday party and Durby Adkins of the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto will assist in the arrangements. Groups may enjoy cocktail gatherings, with the fare being a buffet-style dinner or a huge selection of hot and cold hor d'oeuvres. Accommodations for parties up to 60 guests. Early reservations are suggested . . . Enrico Romano is the hospitable host of Romano's Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach. What's more, he's the expert behind the savory makings of all those small, medium and extra large pizza varieties. This is one of the first restaurants your Bright Lighter visited in Pacifica when coming to the Peninsula many years ago. Enrico and his mother, Enricketta, (you should see her flip pizza dough) are a hard-working pair . . . At Lehr's Greenhouse in San Francisco, the dinner menu is as imaginative as the beautiful garden restaurant itself. Choose from gourmet continental entrees such as Chicken Kiev, whole sauteed baby salmon and Icelandic baby lobster tails . . . The menu mainstay at Christopher's in San Mateo: Eastern-style Italian submarine sandwiches, with 17 different varieties. Many other hot and cold sandwiches are also available, as well as low-priced daily specials . . . The policy of live entertainment at the exotic Castaway, Coyote Point, continues in the lounge on Friday and Saturday nights. Because patron response has been so overwhelming, General Manager Al Stuetzle will feature Billy Tavake and his Trio for an indefinite stint.

SUPER SHOWMAN

Jimmy Ed, organist-vocalist, and his all-new Salty Dog Show entertain in the Ivory Coast Lounge of the Holiday Inn, Belmont. A special "Salty Dog Night" will be featured Thursday, Oct. 24.

Nick's Popular for Special Party Groups

Nick's, a restaurant lounge in Rockaway Beach that rates high in popularity as a meeting place of well known political figures, executives and celebrities from all walks of life, is open seven days a week, including holidays, from 10 a.m. for breakfast, lunch and dinner. This well-established restaurant located along the picturesque shoreline of Pacifica also offers fine facilities for private groups, business conferences and luncheon gatherings. Reservations are already in motion for Holiday parties. Best to get yours in, too . . . Thinking about a trek to Nevada? Consider the advantages of traveling via the Nevada Tours way. A call to Kay (345-0488) will assure you of reserved accommodations and generous bonuses for a Drive Up Package to Reno (Harolds Club "Super Tour"), South or North Tahoe, Carson City (Ormsby House Hotel), and Las Vegas. Also charters for groups . . . For something outstanding, try the Broiled Lobster Tail with drawn butter at Oliver's, in South San Francisco. Dinner includes soup du jour or tossed salad and pasta. Of special note: Cannelloni is also prepared to take out . . . With the recent opening of a new banquet facility, Erik Pedersen, general manager of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, has more flexibility when booking banquets and private parties. Accommodations for up to 400 persons.

Mission High

If you live in the North County, there's a good chance — research has taught us — that you're a Mission High School alumnus . . . or, in deference to the liberated ladies, an alumna. You may be interested to know that on Nov. 2 the Mission High School Alumni Association will hold its second annual dinner/dance for all classes at the University of San Francisco (Golden Gate and Masonic).

There will be no host (because the host will probably be stiff) cocktails from 6:30-8:15 p.m. (a.m. is optional), and dancing until 1 a.m., after which you may ad lib. Prices are booze, 75 cents a pop or seven for $5, and $8.50 for the dinner, which will include New York steak, tax, tip and free parking. Not to mention the live music by Bobby Garay and his orchestra.

The catch is that tickets must be purchased by Oct. 25, as a turnout of better than 700 is anticipated. Tickets may be purchased at Mission High, which currently is utilizing the old Poly High building at 701 Frederick, the Westlake Bowl, Les Vogel Chevrolet, the Miraloma Club, the Wishing Well, or the Seven Hills restaurant.

Chairman Bill Mustanish says that if you request it, he will make every effort to reserve special tables or sections for groups or classes. He says that one member must collect the money and send him a check covering the requested number of seats (make check payable to Mission High Alumni Association).

Mustanich also notes that this year's dinner will be less formal (not so many speeches), which will allow more time for table talk and dancing.

SAN FRANCISCO STATE University (nee College) is taking on a Coastside flavor. The linebacker coach is Mike Gunning, a PE teacher at Terra Nova High who still holds the Far Western Conference record for the longest pass (96 yards), made when he was an All Conference quarterback for Hayward State in 1967.

Rich Motylewski, a freshman defensive end from Terra Nova, is close to breaking into the starting lineup, and almost certainly will be a stalwart next year. And Reggie Pomicpic, a fresh wide receiver from TN who is redshirting this year because of a broken hand, will be a regular for four years, starting next season, predicts head coach Vic Rowan.

Rowan's son Keith, incidentally, seems ready to make it big this year from his offensive tackle slot with the Stanford Indians (forget the Cardinal stuff). If the Indians would just start winning, he could gain some national recognition, after three years as a starter. He has already been nominated for the East-West game.

At 6-4, 250, able to bench press 410 pounds and run the 40 in 5 seconds flat, Keith has the body. As an honor student (majoring in political science), he also has the brains. Besides hardly ever making a mistake on the field, he is also a leader, probably Stanford's most consistent offensive lineman (he earned second team All Coast honors last year).

If you're a one platoon freak, you may be interested in some of the following Stanford stamina records.

A record that may never be broken is held by All American tackle and Hall of Fame member Bob Reynolds, who played 60 minutes in each of the Rose Bowl games of 1934, '35 and '36 . . . Other Indian stamina records include the 550 minutes played in 11 games by Hall of Fame guard Bill Corbus in 1933; the 545 minutes played in 11 games by tackle Claude Callaway in '34; the 540.5 minutes played in 10 games by end Chris Burford in '58 (that is the best average); and the many minutes put in by the Wow Boys in 10 games in 1940, when Frankie Albert went 525, guard Dick Palmer 496, tackle Bruno Banducci 493, halfback Hugh Gallarneau 477.5, end Fred Meyer 467, and halfback Pete Kmetovic, 452.

RANDOM THOUGHTS: The 49ers HAVE improved on their penalty situation . . . The more we think about it, the more gutless Walter Kennedy's decision was to award Clyde Lee to the Hawks. It doesn't make sense to weaken one of the already weak NBA franchises.

He should have "just" told Atlanta, already loaded with strong defensive-rebounding forwards, to go to Hell, for the good of the game . . . Joe Rudi is so often mentioned as an underrated player that he is no longer underrated . . . Our managers of the year, no matter what anybody else says, are Bill Virdon (with Billy Martin an eyelash in arrears) and Danny Murtaugh.

As for Cy Young winners, that's a touchy situation. With the designated hitter rule, American League 20-game winners have become almost literally a dime a dozen. So what one does, we suppose, is look at the loss column, too. That would knock out Nolan Ryan, who won 22 but lost 16, unless one takes into account his non-support and no-hitter and strikeout records. So maybe he's still in. But it sure would take care of Wilbur Wood, who was 20-19, and Ken Holtzman, 19-17. One could go by ERA, and eliminate two of the 20-game winners whose ERA was over 3.00, but then that would eliminate Mike Cuellar, who at 22-10, 3.11 was certainly the Orioles' most valuable pitcher this year. What this probably will all come down to, though, is a battle between the two 25-game winners, Catfish Hunter (25-12, 2.49) and Fergie Jenkins (25-12, 2.82), and since the voters usually go for pitchers on the most successful clubs, that apparently leaves it to Hunter, whose ERA, incidentally, was best among regular starters in the league.

In the NL, it might be assumed that the battle is between LA's Andy Messersmith, one of the league's two 20-game winners (20-6) and Mike Marshall, also of the Dodgers, who had a fantastic record breaking year in relief. But don't overlook the other 20-game winner, Phil Niekro of Atlanta, who was 20-13, but had a better ERA than Messersmith's, 2.38 (second best in the league behind teammate Buzz Capra's, who was 16-8) to 2.59. Again, however, it's almost certain that the member of the winningest team will get the prize.

If you enjoy ironies, consider the case of the Phillies, who were in the thick of the pennant race when their slugging left fielder, Greg Luzinski, went out earlier in the season with a leg injury which was obviously going to keep him out until the stretch run, if the Phillies were going to be in one without him.

But the Phillies gamely vowed to compensate for Luzinski's loss with the hustle and sacrifice, and to hang in there until he got back, which they did. But when he got back, even though he performed capably, especially considering it was like starting spring training again for him, the Phillies collapsed! That usually happens when a star returns. Everybody starts relaxing again, waiting for him to do it all. In such cases, it would probably be better for the manager to hold the star out, and let everybody continue to compensate, hustle, sacrifice.

For statistics freaks, it's interesting to note that Texas moved their fences in this year because they figured young slugger Jeff Burroughs would then hit 40 homers, instead of the "mere" 30 he hit last year. So Burroughs hit 25, and the Texans as a team hit 11 fewer than last year.

Serramonte Upsets Westmoor

NPL Egos Still Intact—Barely

THIS IS HOW IT'S DONE

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Ego-damaging ties were only seconds away from both South San Francisco and Terra Nova Friday night after a mile afternoon upset by Serramonte had thrown the North Peninsula League title chase into a possible five-way tie.

That ham was averted, however, as the Warriors and the Tigers squeezed through last-minute wins.

South City rallied for a 21-14 win over crosstown rival El Camino while Terra Nova used that rate prep weapon, the field goal, to take a 9-6 win over Jefferson.

Serramonte pulled the day's upset with a 32-12 thumping of previously undefeated Westmoor and Oceana beat Half Moon Bay 27-6.

SSF 21, El Camino 14

Making it difficult on themselves throughout a wild second half, the Warriors nevertheless remained undefeated in NPL play and in sole possession of first place.

The Warriors, who had lost to El Camino for the first time ever last year, scored on the second play of the second quarter when fullback Bob Luster went over from the three. Defensive back Jeff Yock's interception and 40-yard runback had set up the score.

Camino took the kickoff and went 82 yards in seven plays, with halfback Mike Evans taking a pitchout and running around left end for 19 yards to score.

Warrior halfback Tali Ena opened second half scoring with a powerful 46-yard run around right end, putting the Warriors up 14-6. But on the last play of the quarter Evans retaliated, capping a 74-yard drive with a one-yard TD run — the first points SSF has allowed an NPL team this season.

After offsetting penalties nullified the first PAT pass attempt, Evans tied the score with a dive.

The score remained locked until only 44 seconds remained. Then Luster got another three-yard touchdown run, following tackle Rich Keres' great block into the endzone.

Terra Nova 9, Jefferson 6

Neither team could do much other than butt heads for the first 42 minutes. For the second straight week Jefferson came up dry but respected.

The Indians scored first in the final quarter as Rick Huertas took a deflected five-yard pass from Mark Rud with 5:46 remaining.

Terra Nova quarterback Rich Statfull marched the Tigers down on the next series and struck from the 47 with a bomb to Armando Morales.

After forcing Jefferson to punt, Terra Nova started on its own 35 with Stratfull hitting Morales on a 60-yard play to make it first down, goal to go on the five. After two downs neeted minus two yards, Dave Waterman hit a 25-yard field goal with 31 seconds left.

Terra Nova's running game encountered a brick wall; the Tigers got 40 yards on the ground, and no first half first downs.

Serramonte 32, Westmoor 12

For the first time in the six-year history of the school, Serramonte defeated rival Westmoor, and the opportune win boosted the Regents (2-1) back into NPL title chase.

Westmoor lacked a running attack most of the game. Serramonte, with fullback Skip Campbell punishing his way for 123 yards, rolled over what had been the league's toughest defense for 260 yards on the ground. Campbell's total was two yards more than Westmoor had allowed any other NPL team.

Westmoor led 12-7 at the half, despite getting only one yard rushing, as quarterback Harold Day hit TD passes to Rick Wyatt (21 yards) and flanker Ken DeAlba (55-yards).

But Serramonte proceeded to outscore Westmoor 32-0 the rest of the way to turn that first win into a laughter.

Serramonte's Jerome Williams had nearly a perfect day; he got the Regents on their way with a pass interception and 57-yard return to the one, setting up Rick Green's TD plunge just before the half.

Before the day ended Williams had intercepted three passes and deflected two others; caught a touchdown pass and caught a pass that set up another; and also threw the block that sprung Campbell on a 49-yard TD run.

Oceana 27, Half Moon Bay 6

Calvin Ellison ran for 115 yards oa Oceana rallied from a 6-0 first quarter deficit to outpseed visiting Half Moon Bay, keeping the Cougars winless in conference action.

Veteran receiver Art Picolotti and halfback Robert Clay eached gathered in a touchdown pass from quarterback Lenny Sanchez as the Sharks rolled up 306 yards.

'Unknown' Leads Pads Over Sacred Heart

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Rich Allen was somewhat of an unknown quantity at the season's start for Serra High's veteran-studded football team.

But the 6-3 junior tight end has rapidly made his talents known, especially so in Saturday's 33-6 Padre win over Sacred Heart at San Francisco's Lincoln High.

Allen grabbed three touchdown passes, including two in a 20-point first quarter, as Serra raised its record to 6-0 overall and 2-0 in the West Catholic League.

Sacred Heart, a better team than its record (1-5, 0-2) would indicate, never recovered from the early onslaught.

Jim Meyersieck returned a fumble 14 yards to paydirt on the first offensive play of the game to start the rout.

Serra then scored the next three times it had possession, with Jim Freitas throwing scoring strikes of 11 and 43 yards to Allen and 30 to John O'Leary.

Freitas' passing, which has totalled 19 touchdowns and nearly 1400 yards, sparked the Padres to a 27-0 lead before the second quarter was half over.

Their own loss of momentum and Sacred Heart's fired-up defense stalled the Padres for most of the remaining time, Freitas, who went 17-32 for 299 yards, received the most extensive pressure of his career after intermission.

Allen, who finished with six catches for 121 yards, scored Serra's final TD on a 29-yard halfback option pass from Randy Gomez in the fourth quarter.

The Padre defense held the Irish well in check, save one third quarter drive for SH's lone score.

For the third consecutive, week, Serra came up with five enemy turnovers for a season total of 27. Jim Kniffin grabbed one of three interceptions for a team-leading total of three.

More 'A' Medals for Swim Club

The North Peninsula Swim Club continues to improve winning more "A" time medal every week.

Leading with "A" medals at last week's AAU sponsored meet were Anita Ruiz, who also took second place in the 10 years and under 50 yard breaststroke and Cathy Twentyman, who took a fourth place in the 10 and under 100 yard breastroke.

"A" medals denote the rise of a swimmer to a higher level of competition, by breaking a set time standard in an individual event.

Cathy also took a sixth place in the 10 and under 50 yard breastroke. Gina Marcelli led the team in ribbons by taking first, third and fourth places in the eight years and under 25 yard breastroke, 100 yard individual medly and 50 yard freestyle respectively.

Top Honors for Michelle Mills

Peninsula Aquatic Club swimmer Michelle Mills stole the spotlight from her older counterparts over the weekend by tying for high point trophy in the Mt. View Dolphin AAU meet.

Michelle, competing in the girls' 11-12 division, swam to victories in the 200 yard medley, 100 yard butterfly and the 100 yard breaststroke. In addition, she took second places in the 100 free and 50 breast and thirds in the 50 free and 50 backstroke.

Lisa Cooper Highest Point Winner for Jeff

Lisa Cooper finished first in the 50 yard backstroke to become Jefferson High School's highest point winner in the recent girl's match between Jeff. and Terra Nova.

Lisa also took second place in the 25 yard backstroke. Nicola Malaletkin placed second in the 50 yard breaststroke and Pam Laino placed second in the 25 yard freestyle butterfly.

"Each race was extremely close", according to coach Judy Reagan.

The final score was Jefferson 22 and Terra Nova 95.

Bulldogs Face Crucial Grid Test Saturday

By FRED BAER
Post Correspondent

College of San Mateo got another lesson about the near-equal balance of the Golden Gate Conference Saturday afternoon. The Bulldogs were happy to escape from winless West Valley with a 22-14 victory on the Westmont High turf.

Coupled with Chabot's upset of previously unbeaten and 13th-ranked De Anza, San Mateo is now all alone in second place at 3-1.

De Anza, 2-1 in league and 4-1 over-all, visits CSM Saturday afternoon. The loser will be virtually eliminated from title consideration.

Saturday CSM had to come back from a 14-10 halftime deficit, then stop the hosts on the San Mateo 12 on downs with eight seconds left in the game.

Reserve fullback John Hart and kicker Steve LaPlant were the Bulldog offensive heroes.

LaPlant's eight kicking points, including field goals of 41 and 22 yards, proved the margin of victory. Hart, a 220-pound frosh from Westmoor, entered the game in the second half and gained 56 yards on nine carries, his last for two yards and CSM's final touchdown.

Bearcat Harriers Still Undefeated

San Mateo High's cross-country team remained undefeated in the Mid-Peninsula League Monday with a 19-36 win over Crestmoor.

In other MPL meets, Mills beat Aragon 23-35, and Burlingame ran past Capuchino 16-43.

San Mateo is 4-0. Mills and Hillsdale are tied for second at 3-1.

The Bearcats took five of the first six places at Crestmoor, led by Craig Corey's 14:33 time (2.8 miles).

Paul Renga ran an Aragon school record 12:45 on his 2.5 mile course, but Mills had the next four places, paced by Ron Loza.

At Burlingame, Ron Sherrin's 15:47 clocking over three miles highlighted the Panthers' easy win.

Critique Seminar Held to Review Summers Fair

The San Mateo County Fair held its annual critique seminar last week to review last summer's fair and to start planning for the 1975 show.

Fair President Emil Stiefvater, Hillsborough, chaired the session, which gave fair participants an opportunity to exchange ideas with each other and offer suggestions for making next year's Fair bigger and better.

Prior to the critique, fair exhibitors and participants were invited to express their thoughts regarding the fair by mail. These were compiled by Fair General Manager Sal Millan, who summarized them at the critique.

Among the strong points were the general appearance of the grounds, the improvement in the carnival area, the arts and crafts show, the first-time industrial arts exhibit, and KCSM's daily live radio and television broadcats from the fair.

The number of floral exhibitors and further upgrading in the appearance of the commercial exhibits were areas that participants felt needed attention.

Millan announced two major maintenance projects to be undertaken before next Fairtime. New water lines and a fire hydrant will be installed at a cost of $35,000, and the transformer now located under the mall stage will be next to the Home Arts Building, at a cost of $50,000.

New Focus on Youth Mental Health Service?

A new program designed to shift preventive mental health service for youngsters from its present focus in mental health centers to the schools and communities was approved last Tuesday by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett, who recommended the revolutionary program, told the board:

"Of all the programs I have presented to you in my years here, this may well be the most important."

Historically, Pickett noted, the mental health service needs of children aged 5 to 14 have been given less attention than the service needs of adults, even though it is estimated that 30 per cent of all children are "at risk" of developing emotional or behavioral problems.

In San Mateo County, he said, more than 26,000 children fall into this category.

Purpose of the new eight-year project, to be financed largely by the National Institute of Mental Health, is to set up a joint school-community mental health program in which mental health professionals, school staff and parents togeher can improve the possibility of aiding "at risk" children before their problems become severe.

The Ravenswood City, the San Mateo City and the Jefferson Elementary School districts in the south, central and northern areas of the county respectively, have been selected to initiate the program, beginning Nov. 1.

Pickett said that the long-term goal of the project is to develop three regional models of school mental health programs. The program in each region will emphasize prevention, by means of training, consultation and collaboration.

mental health professionals, a research assistant and a secretary.

They will move on to other schools and other districts as school personnel and parents begin to take over the operation and maintenance of the program.

Major purpose of the preventive program will be to enhance the growth and development of each child's resources for living, rather than the identification and treatment of symptoms, Pickett explained.

Supervisor William H. Royer questioned the 30 per cent figure "at risk" figure quoted by Pickett.

Pickett explained that under present conditions, 2,184 of that group could be expected at some time during their life to require direct care for severe emotional problems resulting from crisis situations.

"It is the intention of the project to prevent them from reaching this stage," Pickett said.

The first year of the program will cost $340,000, with $264,309 (80 per cent) of the funding to be supplied by the National Institute of Mental Health.

Of the balance, the state and county will pay on a basis of a 90 per cent-10 per cent division respectively.

During the term of the program, the federal allocation will drop to only 30 per cent by the last three years.

Thus, the county will be paying $7,560 as its share the first year, and $41,198 by the final year.

Both Royer and Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald commented that they had received information concerning the program only last Friday and that it provided very little "lead time" for studying the proposal.

Action by the board was necessary by today in order that the program can be operational by Dec. 1. Otherwise, Pickett said, the county would lose the federal funding.

He noted that the board had approved applying for the grant some time ago and that it has taken 2½ months of negotiations among the county, the school districts and the state to set up the program.

Pickett admitted he "should and could" have provided progress reports as the project plans developed.

There originally will be three staff members hired prior to start of the program, with a total of 21 being appointed prior to conclusion of the first year of the project.

Board Chairwoman Jean Fassler reported the receipt of numerous letters from various school districts supporting the program.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair termed the program "an exciting new approach . . . we're usually looking over things after the fact."

Three Vie for Sixth Senatorial District Seat

It would be an upset if incumbent Democratic State Senator George Moscone weren't elected in the newly redrawn Sixth Senatorial District in the general election Nov. 5.

Observers give Moscone an easy victory in the heavily-Democratic district, stretching from San Francisco's Sunset District on the north to the middle of the city of San Mateo on the south.

But he does have opposition in two well-informed but politically unknown men who have decided to participate directly in the campaign dialogue by offering themselves to the voters as alternatives.

These are Republican Max Woods, 38, and American Independent Raymond O. Heaps, 59, both of San Francisco.

Moscone is the only with with major financing, but Campaign Manager Don Bradley said the campaign would cost about $11,000 and anticipated it will be $3,000 to $4,000 in the hole by election time.

The incumbent also is thought to have more than $100,000 from a party dinner tucked away to run for mayor of San Francisco next year, but Bradley said that money, raised last winter, was used to pay off debts from Moscone's unsuccessful attempt to run for governor.

As for running for mayor to replace Joseph L. Alioto in San Francisco next year, Moscone told a group in Millbrae Wednesday that he might. He said he was depressed about his record on legislation. He has led all legislators in the past session with 21 bills vetoed by Governor Ronald Reagan and said he felt he hadn't accomplished as much as he should have.

But, Moscone said, he has high hopes for Democrat Edmund G. Brown, Jr. being elected governor next month and that, along with a larger Democratic majority in the legislature, should improve the situation in his view.

Woods, a cable car conductor in San Francisco, said he probably would spend less than $5,000 on his campaign. But he noted some contributors have asked to remain anonymous in view of their skepticism of San Francisco politics. "They want to be able to say they backed Moscone after the election and I can understand that," Woods said.

Heaps, a diamond and stone setter in Oakland, said he has committed $1,400 of his own money and up to $800 from friends so far.

Moscone is working hard on walk-and-talk tours of the cities in San Mateo County to acquaint himself with the people and problems. He called his new constituents "inordinately hospitable" and said his support has been excellent.

He added that if elected he plans to open a south district office around San Bruno or Millbrae.

Woods has resided in several San Mateo County Coastside communities in the past 18 years while Heaps said he has many friends here and often comes fishing down this way. Both say they feel they know this county's problems well enough to be responsive to them.

Moscone added that since he was redistricted out of north San Francisco and left with most of residential San Francisco, there is a definite community of interest between the two counties.

Woods said he felt State Senate district boundaries shouldn't cross county lines because it "destroys the integrity of the senior house."

Here are some of the candidates' views.

Moscone:

"I'm not the San Francisco city slicker trying to run the show . and I won't stick my nose in where it doesn't belong.

"The only thing I've tried to assure San Mateo County people is that they'll see no continuity of preference for San Francisco."

Freeway 380 e-1xtension from San Bruno's Crestmoor Canyon to Pacifica's coast: Against. "My opposition is based on opposition to freeways in rural areas."

Proposition A, the ballot measure seeking formation of a San Mateo County Transit District: Favors. "We've got to make it delightful to get out of the cars. We need a good super transit system that eventually will hook up the entire nine Bay Area counties, and it doesn't all have to be one system."

San Francisco's jail near San Bruno: "I'm against building new jails (as suggested in San Francisco to eventually abandon the facility near San Bruno), unless it's part of a program to phase out the San Quentins. I'm not sympathetic to moving the San Bruno jail.

Woods:

On the extension of BART into San Mateo County: "San Mateo County would be merely an extension of San Francisco and San Francisco is going to the dogs."

On environmental issues; "I get perturbed every time I see a building torn down and one five times its size go up. I'd love to see one of those lots start growing carrots."

On crime: "I've been criticized within the GOP, but if it takes a man with a rifle, sidearm, billyclub and attack-trained dog to stop violence on the streets, I'm for it. But leave non-victim crimes alone. Let prostitutes pay taxes like everyone else. I'm for legalizing marijuana but not the hard stuff."

On public employe strikes: "Essential services—police, fire, sanitation and medical services — shouldn't have the right to strike. But if there's constant trouble between elected officials and civil servants, those elected won't stay long.

Heaps:

On government: "We're gradually losing control of our government. I've found generally that the people make for wiser decisions at the polls than the politicians. The Mafia is more like ethical business today than is politics."

On BART: "I believe that should be up to the voters of the county."

On conservation: "I'm for sensible approaches to environmental problems, but not for turning half our parking spaces over to bicycles either. I, don't support the Coastal Zone Commission because it takes away private land without paying for it.

On prison reform: "Supervision is so lax a parent whose son goes to prison doesn't know if he'll be alive in a week. I'm for reform but the opposite direction of most small reform groups. I favor more supervision and fewer luxuries."

THE PERFECT HOST
Almaden Mt. White Chablis
5th or ½ Gallon

Mountain White Chablis (pronounced Shab-lee) from Almaden can be described as a perfect, light dry wine for everyday drinking and all purpose use. It would be excellent choice to serve with the center cut pork chops that are featured this week.

Like other white wines, a three hour chilling period is recommended. This delicious wine is available in two sizes - the fifth for $1.67 and the more economical half gallon for $3.34.

SLIDE SHOW

Nancy Mikulin, senior at Westmoor High School, is welcomed as speaker at the Rotary Club of Daly City by Floyd Gonella, president. Looking on is Lou Lent, program chairman. Nancy spoke and showed Kodachrome slides last week of her summer stay in Germany under the Experiment in International Living. She was assisted financially by the local club and by school group funds. Miss Mikulin said she is willing to present her program to other community organizations.

Fairmont Students Help With Honduras Relief

Students of Fairmont School, Pacifica, have joined in a successful relief drive for victims of hurricane Fifi in Honduras.

Organized by the school's Junior Red Cross Council, collections of powdered dry milk, canned milk, and rice were gathered by students. Cash donations were used to add six blankets to the much needed food items.

Junior Red Cross Council advisor Earl Flegel, fifth grade teacher, indicated that more than 200 food items were donated. Red Cross classroom representatives carried the burden of telling classmates of the great need for food among Honduras children and adults, collected the contributions, and prepared them for delivery to the Fairmont Fire Station for shipment.

Students' contributions will soon be transported to the victims tf the recent hurricane in Central America. A quick and generous response to real human need is a lesson in caring and sharing that will reach hundreds of miles beyond the walls of Fairmont School classrooms.

A Victim Who Kept Her Cool

A woman who kept a "cool head" while a knife was held at her throat persuaded a would-be assailant to leave her Daly City home last Tuesday night.

Police Lt. James Barron said the victim, Barbara Finn, 23, of Los Olivos Blvd., returned home about 11:30 p.m. to find her house had been burglarized and a radio, clothing, and a lamp had been taken.

As she was cleaning up the home, she went into the kitchen, where she alleges Dale P. Duffus, 21, of 231 Los Banos Ave., grabbed her and pressed a knife against her throat.

Duffus is a neighbor of the victim, and she recognized him, Barron said.

She began to talk to Duffus and after a few minutes he left the home, the victim told police.

Duffus was apprehended at his trailer home, but he was asleep and police were unable to arouse him.

He was sent to Chope Hospital for observation and treatment, Barron said.

Police said charges are pending his release from the hospital.

Daly City Giving Pine Seedlings

The City of Daly City is offering 8,000 pine tree seedlings in one gallon cans to local property owners for their use in erosion control landscaping and to provide general civic beautification.

The City Council has directed the Department of Recreation, Parks and Maintenance to establish a distribution system through local Homeowners Associations. Property owners may use the seedlings in areas not specifically prohibited by deed restrictions or subdivision covenants.

The seedlings were raised in the city's own nursery, and the planting program is part of a long-range effort to control erosion on barren slopes, and to beautify residential areas, it was explained.

ATTACK CARRIER

Navy Aviation Electrician's Mate Third Class Larry E. Smith, son of Mrs. Christina M. Smith of 1855 Woodside Road, Redwood City, has left Alameda aboard the nuclear-powered attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise on a deployment to the Western Pacific.

As a member of Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron 137, he will participate in training exercises while the Enterprise is operating as a component of the U.S. Seventh Fleet. Smith is also scheduled to visit several countries in the Far East during the cruise.

A 1971 graduate of Woodside High School, Redwood City, he joined the Navy in June 1971.

Sinatra's Idea for Funny, Family Film

Mel Shavelson's thoroughly likeable and ingratiating family film, "Mixed Company," (opening next week on the Peninsula) was suggested indirectly by Frank Sinatra during the making of "Cast A Giant Shadow" in 1965.

"The only way he'd play an Italian pilot who volunteers to fight for Israel in the Six-Day War was if I sent all his salary to the Arab-Israeli Youth Center in Nazareth which he founded and supports.

"Frank keeps his good deeds from the public eye because they ruin his image. He explained his affection for the homeless kids by saying, 'I'm not old enough to understand adults but maybe kids will grow up to understand each other.' Children are a lot more intelligent than adults. They get along im places where adults can't."

The warmly humorous film deals with an upper middle class white couple, Joseph Bologna and Barbara Harris, who have three of their own children and adopt a 12-year-old black boy, a four-year-old Indian boy and nine-year-old Vietnamese girl. How they inter-relate, the problems of adjusting to each other and their affluent homelife and the disciplinary methods employed are what make the movie genuinely candid and honest.

The secondary plot focuses on the father of this family whose profession is basketball coach to a continuously losing team. He has enough problem at the stadium and locker room without having to cope with hurt feelings and touchy social situations at home, he laments.

"Human misery is always funny on some levels and no one can be more miserable than a basketball coach, we figured. We intercut different teams to make up the action of the one team we called the Phoenix Suns. The L.A. Lakers would have been too easy to identify and besides Wilt Chamberlain would have sued us, but we have some shots of the Atlanta Hawks and other teams," the film's author and director told us.

"Fact followed fantasy because after the film was shot, the team lived up to the spirit of the picture and ended up at the bottom of the league. No single team would have worked because the players are traded so fast or get fired, that you can't find them after the season is over. I hear in San Francisco they open bars and restaurants during the summer.

"The nightmare scene of Bologna seeing himself being hanged from the basket ring is a recurring dream of coaches. Especially in Phoenix where they can't even remember the names of their last few coaches, it's true.

"I hoped to get James Garner but then the studio suggested Bologna who'd only made one other film I'd seen, "Made For Each Other," which he wrote and starred in with his wife Renee Taylor. He looks like a guy in trouble even when he's not.

"The only problem with directing another writer is that he feels he knows what is funny. Sometimes he was right. But we had some knock-down, drag-out fights. I'd shoot his version and then mine and we'd see which worked best.

"The other problem with Joe is that he has too many careers and wants to write, rather than act. And preferably with his wife, Renee. More and more writers are getting less frightened of the camera and combining their writing with acting or directing, which is how I work."

Lorengar In Cast of 'Otello'

Greek baritone Wassili Janulako will portray the role of Iago in Jean Pierre Ponnelle's revival of Verdi's "Otello", which opens at San Francisco Opera on Oct. 30. Other performances are slated for November 2, 5, 10 (matinee), and 15. Ingvar Wixell, unable to leave Germany for any extended time period because of serious illness in his family, was originally scheduled for the part. Wixell's 1975 schedule includes appearances with San Francisco Opera.

Janulako, who makes his American debut here has sung Iago at the Cologne Opera. He is a frequent guest artisjlt at the State Operas of Vienna, Hamburg, Stuttgart, and Munich, and at the Berlin, Zurich, and Barcelona Opera Companies, working under such conductors as Kleiber, Santi, Gardelli, Otvos, Guadagno, and Giovaninetti. His extensive repertoire encompasses the standard baritone roles as well as such rarities as Leoncavallo's "Oedipus," Gluck's "Iphigenie in Aulis," and several early Verdi works.

Born in Athens, Janulako earned his degree in Economics before entering the Greek National Conservatory to study voice. His operatic debut took place in 1959 when he sang Valentin in "Faust" at the Athens Festival.

Also in the San Francisco Opera "Otello" cast will be soprano Pilar Lorengar as Desdemona; tenor James King in the title role.

Backers Go All Out for Pool

Proponents of Pacifica's $550,000 pool-tennis court bond issue are taking no chances this time around.

The remainder of the $1,375,000 project will be financed by the Jefferson Union High School District.

Last March, a $400,000 bond issue fell just 58 votes short of the needed two-thirds majority for passage. The bond issue would have paid for a covered pool at Oceana High School.

With endorsements many political and community organizations and no concerted opposition, the backers of the bond issue did little campaigning. Much of the campaign funds, in fact, went unspent.

This time, the backers are going all out.

The revised bond issue asks for funds to pay for both the covered swimming pool at Oceana and eight lighted tennis courts at Terra Nova High School. The slogan of the campaign is "For Balanced Recreation."

Students at the two high schools have joined the fray, showing their elders how to win a campaign.

According to Stan Farber, acting chairman of the campaign, plans are to distribute "door hangers" throughout Pacifica on Oct. 27. A telephone committee will complete the campaign to contact every voter.

Official co-chairmen of the drive are Mayor Aubrey Lumley and Jefferson High School Board President John Sloane.

The high school district will contribute $3 for every $2 from the city. Total cost for the program is estimated at $1,375,000. The 25-yard pool is estimated to cost $1,295,000 and the courts, $80,000.

Farber said 2,000 persons are taking swim lessons at Terra Nova's pool. He said there is no time available to provide more lessons or more public swim time. The Oceana tennis courts are filled to capacity.

(F) Final Pay Quantity—See Section 9-1.015 of the Standard Specifications.

The foregoing quantities are approximate only, being given as a basis for the comparison of bids, and the County of San Mateo does not, expressly or by implication, agree that the actual amount of work will correspond herewith, but reserves the right to increase or decrease the amount of any class or portion of the work, or to omit any portion of the work, as may be deemed necessary or expedient by the Engineer.

Pursuant to Section 1773 of the Labor Code, prevailing wage rates have been advertised in a newspaper of general circulation and copies are available in the office of the County Engineer and in the office of the Clerk of the Board as adopted by Resolution No. 33057 of the Board of Supervisors on the 20th day of August 1974, establishing such prevailing wage rates. Said prevailing wage rates shall be made available to any interested party on request, and in such case the successful bidder shall post a copy thereof at each job site.

Overtime - not less than one and one-half (1 1/2) times the above rates. Sundays and holidays not less than one and one-half (1 1/2) times the above rates.

The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification, or type of workman employed on the project.

It is the policy of the County that contractors on public projects employ their workers and craftsmen from the local labor market whenever possible. "Local Labor Market" is defined as the labor market within the geographical confines of the County of San Mateo, State of California. Consistent with this policy, the contractor is requested to employ his craftsmen and other workers from the local labor market whenever possible to do so.

Each bidder shall submit with his bid a Certificate of Compliance, on a form provided in the "Proposal" section of these contract documents, certifying that he is in compliance with the provisions of the Equal Employment Opportunity Requirement of Executive Order 11246, Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the California Fair Employment Practices Act and any other federal or state laws and regulations relating to equal employment opportunity. With the execution of said certificate, bidder also agrees that he will develop and implement, during the course of the work concerned, an affirmative action program of hiring and employment, conducted without regard to race, color, national origin, ancestry or religion of the applicants. With this certification, he shall submit any and all information which may be required by the County in connection with the particular project.

Plans and specifications and forms of proposal and contract may be seen and obtained at the office of the County Purchasing Agent, 590 Hamilton Street, Redwood City, California. Plans and Specifications may be obtained on deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per set, said deposit to be refunded upon the return of the Plans and Specifications in good condition. Additional technical questions should be directed to the office of the County Engineer and Road Commissioner, County Office Building, Redwood City, California.

No bids will be accepted from a bidder who is not licensed as required by Laws of the State of California.

The County of San Mateo reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and or waive any informalities or irregularities in any bid received.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set from the opening thereof.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
COUNTY OF SAN MATEO.
A. R. MIDDAUGH, Purchasing Agent.

SSF Teachers Back Slowdown

South San Francisco's major teacher group voted Monday night to support the Westborough Junior High School faculty in withholding all voluntary services outside of regular classroom duties.

The group — the Representative Council of the California Teachers' Association — made no move to join the Westborough teachers, however.

President Barbara Olds explained that many teachers already had made their commitments to sponsor groups and aid student activities.

Withholding of services districtwide may be considered, she added, when salary negotiations begin in February, although she expressed hope that such a move would not be necessary.

Teachers at the 915-student Westborough Junior High School no longer are volunteering for such activities as the PTA and various school clubs in which they are not compelled to participate. As a result, several extra-curricular activities either are being discontinued or curtailed.

The principal, vice-principal and counselors have assumed advisorships for the three grades at Westborough. The fate of such annual activities, as the Oktoberfest, ninth-grade picnic, and mini-course day is in doubt. The PTA is seeking more parent volunteers.

Activities affected at Westborough include the art show, Industrial Arts Club, Baseball Club, Soccer Club, Math Club, Chess Club, Honor Society, Drama Club, and the Pep Stage Band, according to the teachers.

Teachers are complaining that they received only a four per cent pay increase this year, which spokesmen for the Westborough teachers said is the smallest increase in the north county. They said the cost of lving has risen 8.5 to 11 per cent this year.

Westborough teachers say many teachers must now devote their spare time to second jobs.

"It was a difficult decision for us all," the teachers wrote in a bulletin sent to the parents. "However, it is the only decisive action that can be taken if any economic progress is to be made.

Westborough Principal Edna deLarios said Friday the situation is "highly regrettable," in that it was not consistent with the philosophy of the school. However, she said the situation has not resulted in any "big changes" for most of the students. Most activities, she said, are continuing, because there is a paid director of activities. Athletic activities also are continuing, since coaching of sports is included among some teachers' duties.

LOOK MA, NO HANDS

The Chuck Jones Magic Review will perform at Serramonte Center, Daly City, four times daily from Oct. 31 through Nov. 3. Among other tricks, Jones features the Houdini trunk illusion, a lady floating in mid-air, and a girl divided into three parts. The show is free to the public.
